Anyone with basic keyboard skills (equivalent to Alfred's Basic Piano, Lesson Book 2) can dig right in and begin learning jazz right away. Spanning from the major scale and basic triad theory all the way through 7th chords, pentatonic scales and modulating chord progressions, this book features a full etude or tune demonstrating every new concept introduced. Beginning Jazz Keyboard breaks the age-old tradition of dry, intimidating and confusing jazz books, and provides an actual step-by-step and enjoyable method for learning to play in this style. The DVD demonstrates examples and offers opportunity to play along.

Technical Studies for the Cornet Alfred Music Publishing

This book is the first biography in any language of this outstanding contemporary German Lutheran composer. Hugo Distler, who died in 1942, stands as a leader in the renewal of German church music which has profoundly influenced all church music, also in America. The movement for the renewal of music in the Evangelical Church of Germany began during the late 1920s and the 1930s. It resulted partly from the new understanding of the church which was developing at that time and partly from musicological studies in early Lutheran church music, organ construction, and other related areas. The two composers who came to the fore at this time in German church music were Hugo Distler and Ernst Pepping. Hugo Distler took Heinrich Schutz as his model and in his music he follows many of the same techniques as Schutz, especially the close relationship between the music and the text. "Wortgebundenheit" describes the music of both in a single word. In this book the author presents a descriptive study of the composer's life, work, and contribution to the German musical scene in the second quarter of the 20th century. As helpful accompaniment it includes an analysis of Distler's organ and choral music, along with many illustrations of his musical scores. The final chapter reviews the effect of Hugo Distler's innovations on the later development of church music both in Germany and in America. Of special interest is a unique insight into his influence on two well-known American church music composers, Jan Bender and Richard Wienhorst.

There are many books written for the Piano, Violin, etc., entirely devoted to Technic. This Work is especially written to enable the Student, by practice and application, to overcome any obstacle which may occur in musical passages written for the Cornet. By controlling the Wind Power to play these Exercises as written, in one breath, the Student will acquire ENDURANCE without strain or injury. Train the Muscles which control the Lips, to make them elastic and strong, as only a slight pressure is necessary, and not brute force. The highest as well as the lowest notes can be played with equal tone quality if practiced according to the instructions that precede each Study. Every Cornet Player should have reached a degree of excellence before attempting to play these Exercises. To become an Expert on the Cornet, one should be familiar with as many Cornet Methods as possible, and so gain the experience of each. Every Exercise in this Book is possible, and not so very difficult if practiced slowly at first, and not too long at a time. I have used them for my daily practice for years, and they have been the means of my reaching the highest notes after playing a two-hour Concert, also of preserving my lips so that they never tire, and what has been a help to me is surely good for other Cornet Players. You cannot expect to attain the highest point of excellence without hard work and perseverance. Never be perfectly satisfied with yourself. Try to make some improvement each day, feeling that it is a pleasure to have conquered that which seemed an impossibility at first. Do not neglect to correct immediately the least fault you make. Bad habits are easily formed, but are difficult to remedy. There are few Celebrated Cornet Soloists, although thousands play the instrument. Most players abuse their practicing by not knowing the proper way, and neglecting to pay more attention to the elementary work. These Studies have been found to be excellent for Clarinet Players as well as Cornet Players. The Clarinet being a Wind Instrument also, all these Exercises will appeal to the Player of that Instrument by following the same instructions.
