Es para mí una satisfacción presentar la obra Metodología de la Investigación Cuantitativa-Cualitativa y Redacción de Tesis, a petición de sus autores a quienes agradezco por esta distinción. En la era de la información, la complejidad de la construcción del conocimiento científico es cada vez mayor, los cuestionamientos al método científico como el único camino para llegar al conocimiento, ha generado un movimiento importante en el claustro universitario. Así se empieza a trabajar la investigación cualitativa. Las ideas de Popper, Lakatos y Feyerabend, van calando en la cátedra universitaria, sin desmerecer la presencia de Bunge.

This book on 'Cooperative Learning in Higher Education' addresses the development of both reflective teaching and learning in higher education to promote sustainable education in several disciplines where reflection is at the core of sustainable development. The book explores reflection within higher education and/or within instructional approaches to higher education, not only via in-house and external individuals, collective initiatives and activities that focus on reflection and the generation of knowledge, but also on the transformative outputs of learning communities. We place an emphasis on reflective practices and communities, as well as linking reflective learning and the development of professional identity through reflection. The book also addresses the connections between theoretical and applied research on reflective practices and knowledge generation in all areas, as well as professional practice and identity through theoretical definitions, situated and grounded practice, and transformative knowledge.

Tropical forests occupy only one-tenth of the world's land area but are home to more than half of the world's flora and fauna. They comprise extremely complex labyrinth of ecological interactions. The astounding richness and biodiversity of tropical forests are rapidly dwindling. There is a fear that the burgeoning human population and industrialization, where a majority of these tropical forests are found, may lead to the clearing or modification or may be a complete disappearance of the remaining tropical forests within few decades. This has severely altered the vital biogeochemical cycles of carbon, phosphorus, nitrogen, and so on and has led to the change in global climate and pristine natural ecosystems. Hence, there is an urgent need to protect, restore, conserve, and improve the forest resources before they are irrevocably lost. In this second edition of the book Tropical Forests, the chapters share the above issues and help in understanding, educating, and creating awareness on the role of "tropical forests" for the very survival of mankind, climate change, and the diversity of biota across the globe. This book will be of great use and could be useful to students, scientists, ecologists, population and conservation biologists, and forest managers across the globe.

El abandono escolar es una dura realidad. Existen jóvenes que han abandonado la escuela y otros a quienes la escuela los ha abandonado. El abandono escolar o educativo trae consigo un alto costo social y personal, muchas veces dirigiendo las vidas de jóvenes hacia una vida adulta precaria con alta vulnerabilidad social y económica.En respuesta surge la Educación Alternativa, y en particular las Escuelas de Segunda Oportunidad, que proporcionan una educación creativa con base democrática para cultivar una Cultura de paz; que atiende los rezagos académicos que puedan presentar los jóvenes; promueve la autonomía y, sobre todo, atiende el aspecto socio-educativo del joven. Las escuelas deberían contar con un profesorado con las herramientas, conocimiento y creatividad apropiadas para esta modalidad de enseñanza, sin embargo, son pocas las universidades que ofrecen esta formación. El libro presenta un plan de estudios para los programas de preparación de docentes, con el fin de formar a docentes especializados en la Educación Alternativa. En el contexto real de las escuelas alternativas en Puerto Rico, el libro recoge las voces de docentes, directores y patronos, líderes educativos, expertos en currículo y gestores de políticas públicas sobre la Educación Alternativa y el papel de sus docentes. El libro invita a docentes, administradores, profesores, psicólogos y profesionales de la Educación y Salud a mirar hacia la preparación de docentes como la llave para crear experiencias de genuino valor para jóvenes en riesgo de exclusión social que ya han experimentado grandes decepciones en el sistema educativo tradicional. De esa forma, las escuelas y universidades pueden aportar a la retención y graduación de jóvenes en sus segundos intentos de completar sus estudios.

Written by well-known researchers in the field, this book addresses the changes that have occurred and are still unfolding at various organizations that are involved in building real-time supply chains. The authors draw on their experiences with multiple companies, along with references to the natural evolution of ecosystems throughout to help identify the "new rules of supply chain management." The LIVING principles associated with the rapid digitization and technology changes occurring in the global economy are discussed, along with the push to become more sustainable and responsive to customer needs. The Sojo Journal: Educational Foundations and Social Justice Education is an international, peer-reviewed journal of educational foundations. San Jose State University hosts the journal. It publishes essays that examine contemporary educational and social contexts and practices from critical perspectives. The Sojo Journal: Educational Foundations and Social Justice Education is interested in research studies as well as conceptual, theoretical, philosophical, and policy-analysis essays that challenge the existing state of affairs in society, schools, and (in)formal education. The Sojo Journal: Educational Foundations and Social Justice Education is necessary because currently there is not an exclusively international foundations of education journal. For instance, three of the leading journal in education foundations journals (e.g., The Journal of Educational Studies, British Journal of Sociology of Education, The Journal of Educational Foundations) solicit manuscripts and support scholarship mainly from professors who reside in Britain and the United States. This journal is also unique because it brings together scholars and practitioners from disciplines outside of educational foundations, who are equally committed to social change and promoting equity and social justice inside and outside of K-16 schools. The Sojo Journal: Educational Foundations and Social Justice Education's audience is K-12 teachers, K-12 teacher educators, educational leaders, social activists, political economists, and higher education personnel across the globe. The journal is marketed to Educational Foundation, Teacher Education, and Educational Leadership programs, which have embraced the intellectual work of the various editorial members.

History from Things explores the many ways objects—defined broadly to range from Chippendale tables and Italian Renaissance pottery to seventeenth-century parks and a New England cemetery—can reconstruct and help reinterpret the past. Eighteen essays describe how to "read" artifacts, how to "listen to" landscapes and locations, and how to apply methods and theories to historical inquiry that have previously belonged solely to archaeologists, anthropologists, art historians, and conservation scientists. Spanning vast time periods, geographical locations, and academic disciplines, History from Things leaps the boundaries between fields that use material evidence to understand the past. The book expands and redirects the study of material culture—an emerging field now building a common base of theory and a shared intellectual agenda.

Since the mid-1980s, the psychology of liberation movement has been a catalyst for collective and individual change in communities throughout Latin America, and beyond; and recent political developments are making its powerful, transformative ideas more relevant than ever before. Psychology of Liberation: Theory and Applications updates the activist frameworks developed by Ignacio Martin-Baro and Paulo Freire with compelling stories from the frontlines of conflict in the developing and developed worlds, as social science and psychological practice are allied with struggles for peace, justice, and equality. In these chapters, liberation is presented as both an ongoing process and a core dimension of wellbeing, entailing the reconstruction of social identity and the transformation of all parties involved, both oppressed and oppressors. It also expands the social consciousness of professionals, bringing more profound meaning to practice and enhancing related areas such as peace psychology, as shown in articles such as these: Philippines: the role of liberation movements in the transition to democracy. Venezuela: liberation psychology as a therapeutic intervention with street youth. South Africa: the movement for representational knowledge. Muslim world: religion, the state, and the gendering of human rights. Ireland: linking personal and political development. Australia: addressing issues of racism, identity, and immigration. Colombia: building cultures of peace from the devastation of war. Psychology of Liberation demonstrates the commitment to overcome social injustices and oppression. The book is a critical resource for social and community psychologists as well as policy analysts. It can also be used as a text for graduate courses in psychology, sociology, social work and community studies.
