Short subject films have a long history in American cinemas. These could be anywhere from 2 to 40 minutes long and were used as a "filler" in a picture show that would include a cartoon, a newsreel, possibly a serial and a short before launching into the feature film. Shorts could tackle any topic of interest: an unusual travelogue, a comedy, musical revues, sports, nature or popular vaudeville acts. With the advent of sound-on-film in the mid-to-late 1920s, makers of earlier silent short subjects began experimenting with the short films, using them as a testing ground for the use of sound in feature movies. After the Second World War, and the rising popularity of television, short subject films became far too expensive to produce and they had mostly disappeared from the screens by the late 1950s. This encyclopedia offers comprehensive listings of American short subject films from the 1920s through the 1950s.

From Autism and Mutism to an Enlivened Self explores the importance of intimacy, interaction with the environment and the mind-body connection in early childhood development, with specific reference to autism. Built around a detailed case study of a severely autistic child, the book offers an illuminating account of the development and successful treatment of autism both from the perspective of the clinician and from the family. In Part I, Diana Thielst (writing under a pseudonym) gives a description of her experience with her daughter who was autistic at birth, minimally verbal at age five, and did not respond to her name. She details the severe family stress and her ineffectual attempts to get professional help. Finally, she hears of consultants who may be able to help in St. Petersburg, Russia. Guided by the consultants, Thielst and her daughter then embark on a uniquely innovative method for Anna to both build a vocabulary and for the first time learn the value of coordinated and cooperative effort. Armed with a vocabulary and a long history of solo pursuits of organizing inanimate objects, Anna suddenly begins to explore "human" interaction as revealed in comics- a turning on to an emotional life of relatedness and intimacy. In Part II, Joseph D. Lichtenberg uses his knowledge of neonate and early infancy to offer the reader an understanding of autism - its history - and a unique comparison of the normal well adapted neonate and infant at one year with the disrupted development of the child with autism. Lichtenberg's theoretical construct of three major pathways to a healthy adapted development breaks new theoretical ground and gives enrichment to a contemporary portrayal of the autistic experience. With unusually rich clinical material grounded in accessible theory, the authors jointly offer a new perspective on understanding, treating and living with autism. From Autism and Mutism to an Enlivened Self will appeal to psychoanalysts, psychoanalytic psychotherapists and clinicians working with autistic children.

In the dead of night, she snuck into his room in an attempt to make him faint. He gave a charming smile, "No need to go through so much trouble, I am willing to cooperate!" Just as he was about to succeed, he suddenly pinched her chin, his eyes full of anger. "It's you?" An Xia was at a loss. She did not know him. She was so frightened that she wanted to run away. He grabbed her and tied her to him with a paper contract. When the little bun was born, he had changed completely ... The little child ran around on his short legs, "Dung, I bought roses for Mama!" "His face instantly darkened." "Dammit, Mama just kissed me!" "His eyes are like daggers." "Damn, I'm going to sleep with Mama tonight!" He stood up in anger, grabbed the little child and threw him to the door, roaring, "Little bastard! If you dare get close to my wife again, I'll stew you!" From then on, he put away his domineering and tyrannical attitude and became one of the top ten men ... Join Collection

A Bevy of Blue: Picture Book for Dementia Patients, Seniors & Others (Level 2 Book). This is one of a series of picture books for dementia patients (or those with Alzheimer's), adults and seniors that have trouble reading. If your loved one is overwhelmed by 'normal' books but spry enough to feel offended with books labeled as dementia books or by being given a children's book, this is your answer. This book helps those who have a hard time reading in several ways: Each book in this series is themed around one color. A Bevy of Blue has photos featuring beautiful blue elements from around the world. From charming blue mailboxes in Italy to exquisite blue homes in the Yucatan; from the adorable Blue-footed Booby bird to sparkling blue ice caves in Nepal. Those with dementia, Alzheimer's or senior reading struggles can find joy in 'reading' a book that does not need for them to follow a story. *The book is formatted to look like a 'real' book. It is designed for adults, without any child-like wording or features. This allows your loved one to feel proud to own it as part of their book collection. * Neither the title nor any text on or in the book states that the book is for dementia or any type of memory/cognitive problems. It is truly concealed so that the reader is not insulted. * This is a nice, good-sized 8.5 x 8.5 square book with 98 pages that is large enough to really be able to take in the photos, without feeling 'huge'. The soft cover makes it easy to hold. This is not a heavy hard-cover, nor it is a 'board book' that seniors can find condescending. *The short picture descriptions are in large 16 px text. There are 1 to 3 short sentences per picture. Within each picture description, the word 'blue' appears 1 time, to keep the reader on track. * Each photo (and short text) is only located on the right page of this book. The reader can focus on one image at a time without distraction. Please note: This is a Level 2 book, which primarily focuses on being a book of photos, along with short accompanying text. If you are looking for purely a picture book without any text at all, please look to the Level 1 books; for 'easy-read' short stories, please look to Level 3 books.

Sex is the most primitive human instinct and also weapon. But there is always a tendency to hide it below the quilt especially if it is female sexuality. Just as people have learned to eat raw meat after cooking it, they have turned sex into an art through fantasy, style, and enjoying the pleasures of sensation. 'Having sex' has turned into 'making love'. In the transformation from primitive matriarchal social structure to patriarchal power-structure, women have been largely deprived. This deprivation is not only political or economic but also mental and physical. Therefore, the liberation of sexuality is necessary to overcome the discrimination between men and women. We will briefly look at this journey of sexuality. We would like to see how male 'power' was created, how it hindered the psychological development of women and how successful sex can be used as a way to eliminate the existing inequality between men and women. Men can run like a rooster and go down like a duck. It takes time for a woman to burn, it also takes time to extinguish. As women's demands on sex began to become clear and their passive roles as well as active roles in sex arose, the need to control women also arose. As sexual intercourse, posture diversity, orgasm, women's desire and reluctance started to come, the establishment of control structures like religion, ethics etc. started to control her. It turns out that in a patriarchal society, men's only defeat began to occur in sex. Even if the male conquers, the fear of his erect penis or premature ejaculation makes him afraid of women. So comes the need of pornography to control female sexuality and female orgasm to bend her desires according to male's wish? The name of Argentina's 'El Sartorio' or 'El Satario' emerges as the oldest pornography film. In this film, the union of men and women was shown. The cameras captured various mating poses. Experts claim that this film was the first close-up display of private parts....
