Rupert's Tales continue with four new adventure stories in The Nature of Elements. Rupert the rabbit learns how courage, acceptance, compassion, and helping others are connected to the classical elements of Air, Fire, Water, and Earth. In "The Courage to Fly," Grandmother Spinner teaches Rupert that knowledge is only the beginning of wisdom when she asks for his help with a bird who has fallen from the sky. Rupert discovers in "Some Like It Hot" that the Element of Fire is the realm of action and turning words into deeds. When Dylan the dolphin is stuck far from the sea in "The Mystery of Lessons," Rupert receives a lesson in compassion when Grandmother Spinner asks for his help once more, and, finally, Rupert is rewarded for his assistance in "The Sounds of Earth" when he helps Erik the earthworm finally get some sleep. Includes 39 vibrant illustrations. For ages 5-8.

FOR ALL LITTLE FRIENDS OF MR. MCGREGOR & PETER & BENJAMIN It is said that the effect of eating too much lettuce is "soporific." I have never felt sleepy after eating lettuces; but then I am not a rabbit. They certainly had a very soporific effect upon the Flopsy Bunnies! When Benjamin Bunny grew up, he married his Cousin Flopsy. They had a large family, and they were very improv-ident and cheerful. I do not remember the separate names of their children; they were generally called the "Flopsy Bunnies."
