Official IELTS Practice Materials 2 with DVD Babelcube Inc. There are four marking criteria in IELTS SPEAKING MODULE · fluency and coherence · lexical resource · grammatical range and accuracy · pronunciation Each criterion counts towards 25% of your mark and you will be marked on a 9 band scale. Fluency refers to your ability to talk smoothly without any unnatural stoppages. Coherence refers to how easy it is for the examiner to understand what you mean. Lexical resource refers to your ability to use a wide range of vocabulary both appropriately and accurately. You will also be given a mark for your grammar. Your sentences should be as error-free as possible and you should use a range of appropriate grammatical structures. Finally, you will be judged on pronunciation. Your speech should be clear and contain a full range of pronunciation features, such as intonation, sentence stress, and weak sounds. When you are preparing for your IELTS speaking module or any other English exam in which your communication skills are tested, you know how difficult it is to score well in these exams. This IELTS speaking target 9 preparation material is not like any other traditional resource, It has been prepared after observing the issues mentioned above and the concerns of the common students.

World-renowned economist Klaus Schwab, Founder and Executive Chairman of the World Economic Forum, explains that we have an opportunity to shape the fourth industrial revolution, which will fundamentally alter how we live and work. Schwab argues that this revolution is different in scale, scope and complexity from any that have come before. Characterized by a range of new technologies that are fusing the physical, digital and biological worlds, the developments are affecting all disciplines, economies, industries and governments, and even challenging ideas about what it means to be human. Artificial intelligence is already all around us, from supercomputers, drones and virtual assistants to 3D printing, DNA sequencing, smart thermostats, wearable sensors and microchips smaller than a grain of sand. But this is just the beginning: nanomaterials 200 times stronger than steel and a million times thinner than a strand of hair and the first transplant of a 3D printed liver are already in development. Imagine "smart factories" in which global systems of manufacturing are coordinated virtually, or implantable mobile phones made of biosynthetic materials. The fourth industrial revolution, says Schwab, is more significant, and its ramifications more profound, than in any prior period of human history. He outlines the key technologies driving this revolution and discusses the major impacts expected on government, business, civil society and individuals. Schwab also offers bold ideas on how to harness these changes and shape a better future—one in which technology empowers people rather than replaces them; progress serves society rather than disrupts it; and in which innovators respect moral and ethical boundaries rather than cross them. We all have the opportunity to contribute to developing new frameworks that advance progress.
