Bispyribac-Sodium Legare Street Press

Health Canada's Pest Management Regulatory Agency (PMRA), under the authority of the Pest Control Products Act and Regulations, is proposing full registration for the sale and use of Bispyribac-sodium Technical and Velocity SP Herbicide for use on sod farms and golf courses for the reduction of annual bluegrass in turf. An evaluation of available scientific information found that, under the approved conditions of use, Velocity SP Herbicide has value and does not present an unacceptable risk to human health or the environment. The Overview describes the key points of the evaluation, while the Science Evaluation Section provides detailed technical information on the human health, environmental and value assessments of bispyribac-sodium and Velocity SP Herbicide.--Document.

Metal Curtain Walls

Ramesh Sharma, the head of Learning and Development (L&D) at Chrysalis Pharmaceuticals, had enjoyed his lunch meeting with the Human Resources (HR) head of a large retail company, but he drove back to his office with mixed feelings. He was both happy and unhappy at the same time; happy because he had options to fall back on if he decided to quit Chrysalis Pharmaceuticals, and unhappy at the thought of leaving his dream job. Chrysalis Pharmaceuticals, a large multinational drug manufacturer, had set up shop in India in 2009 and had its corporate headquarters in Chennai, the capital of the southern state of Tamil Nadu. Ramesh had been handpicked by its CEO, Raman Murthy, and vice president of HR, Kamla Saxena, to head the L&D department. Kamla had been Chrysaliss third employee and Ramesh, its fifth. Chrysalis had grown from strength to strength in the last four years, had set up manufacturing plants in four cities in India and currently employed 1,200 people. During this period, Ramesh had partnered with Kamla not only on the onboarding, training and career planning of new hires but also on putting in place sound HR policies and practices. However, the last six months had been strange and discomforting, and he was unsure of the messages he was receiving from Kamla.

The 4 A's of Marketing

The first edition of Rural Marketing was published in 2005—a time when the rural demand was just beginning to register high rates of growth, but very little information or data was available. The subsequent and unimaginable changes in rural India in the l

Pain in Residential Aged Care Facilities

The 4A framework helps companies create value for customers by identifying exactly what they want and need, as well as by uncovering new wants and needs. (For example, none of us knew we "needed" an iPad until Apple created it.) That means not only ensuring that customers are aware of the product, but also ensuring that the product is affordable, accessible and acceptable to them.
