Havana Salsa Penguin
The Corso: The Real Nuyorican Salsa Story is a must-read book not just because it's a fantastic and incredible story of success but also it's a historic legacy of how it was at the beginning of the salsa movement. It is narrated firsthand by someone who was there and was an important part of it, if not the most important. Pete Bonet was born in a very humble, extremely poor part of the island of Puerto Rico.

Even the police would not go in there. It was too dangerous. It is a place called El Fanguito, "the Muddy." His mother, Olga, was abandoned there with her six children, ages fifteen down to a newborn baby. Pedrito, as he was called, was the fourth child; he was six years old when his father left for good. Olga was left alone with no money, no food, no man to protect the family, no government help, no nothing, not even shoes for the kids to go to school. The neighbors would say, "Poor Olga, she's going to die along with all the six kids." Pedrito left that part of the world at the age of fifteen to go to New York City, not knowing how to say no in English. At the age of twenty-one, Pedro graduated from Central Commercial High School with honors in bookkeeping and business law, typing sixty words a minute without errors. He then took the test in order to enter the United States Air Force and qualified in administration and thus entered the United States Air Force. Upon returning home with an honorable discharge, Pedro went to work for different construction companies as a timekeeper onsite—Marshall Const. Co., Arc Electric Co., Turner Const. Co., Melnick Const. Co., among others. He would go dancing on weekends to different nightclubs in New York City, from the world-famous Palladium Ballroom called the home of the mambo and cha-cha-cha, located on Broadway and Fifty-Third Street, the Manhattan Center on Thirty-Fourth Street, the Hunts Point Palace in the Bronx, and this was where Pete met the love of his life, Margie. They fell in love at first sight while dancing to the wonderful music of Tito Rodriguez and his big band orchestra. They got married six months later and still together today, in the year 2019, fifty-seven years and still counting. Pete Bonet, as he got to be known, got into music by mere chance. He started singing with Alfredo Valdez and his charanga, then Ray Barretto and his charanga, La Moderna. Then he went with Mongo Santamaria and his orchestra under the musical direction of trumpet player Marty Sheller. He formed his own big band together with the great Louie Ramirez as his arranger and musical director. After a couple of years, he got a call from Tito Rodriguez and went on to sing with the one and only Tito Rodriguez and his big band. Upon Tito Rodriguez's death, he joined the Joe Cuba Sextet. He also sang with the king of Latin music, Tito Puente and his big band, and over forty other Latin orchestras in New York, Hollywood, and Puerto Rico. By reading this book, you will get to appreciate that great era, an extraordinary moment in time, the very beginning when the term "salsa" was born and started to be used instead of all the different names of all that great Cuban music. You will feel all the excitement of non-Latins dancing in clubs like the Corso that most likely will never be repeated again.

In Cuban Fire, the prize-winning author Isabelle Leymarie tells the thrilling story of popular music of Cuban origin and its major artists from the 1920s to today. Afro-Cuban music derives its richness from the fusion of many cultures. On the island of tobacco, rum and coffee, nicknamed 'The Green Caiman' because of its long and curvy shape, the wedding of sacred and secular African musical genres with Spanish and French melodies gave rise to numerous genres that have gained international fame- son, rhumba, guaracha, conga, mambo, cha-cha-cha, pachanga, and nueva timba. The history of Cuban music also unfolds in the United States, where large Cuban, Puerto Rican, Dominican and other Hispanic communities have established themselves over the years. It was in New York, indeed, that the boogaloo, salsa and Latin jazz, created by such musicians as Machito, Mario Bauz , Dizzy Gillespie and Chano Pozo, emerged out of the contact with the Puerto Ricans and African-Americans of that city. This major reference book also deals with the incandescent rhythms of Puerto Rico and -- to a lesser degree -- Santo Domingo, integrated today into salsa and Latin jazz.

With more than 70 mouthwatering recipes, this is the vibrant memoir of Viviana Carballo and her childhood growing up in Cuba. In this collection of stories about her extended family, Carballo recalls the 1940s and 1950s when Havana was a nonstop party, and food and music defined the culture, until Fidel Castro took power in 1959, and she was forced to leave Cuba. With each family memory, Carballo showcases the food of her culture and a delectable recipe, beginning with her childhood in the forties (calabasa fritters, sweet plaintain tortillas, and oxtail stew), through the sensual fifties (roast shoulder of lamb, Cuban bouillabaisse), and then the first 18 months of Castro's revolution (mango pie, tamal encazueta, and papas con chorizo).

El casino y la salsa en Cuba Penguin Group

The experiences we describe in this book are part of our lives; we intend to offer an image of the surging of casino dancing and ring (Rueda) in Cuba. To do so, we have requested the experiences and anecdotes of the dancers who participated from the very prodigious beginning of a dance that is as Cuban as the palms, the sugar cane, the rum and the tobacco... We dedicate this book to ah the founders of casino dance and ring, who definitely are the creators of this dancing style, that later has been called Salsa in other countries. We will make it extensive to ah the professors, promoters, directors of casino rings and to the good dancers that are already hundreds of thousands in Cuba and ah over the world.

Bailes como las contradanzas y danzas españolas, las fiestas de Quinces, los bailes populares y de salón en la década del 50 y los juegos en los bailes, fueron probables antecedentes que influyeran en el origen del casino y su rueda. Los posibles movimientos o pasillos que surgieron pudieron delimitar la estructura y los pasillos de un baile tan cubano como el casino, que también para otros es salsa. Alan Borges y Alicia Sardiñas, desde sus puntos de vista y teniendo en cuenta otros criterios, muestran en este libro de forma sencilla, amena y práctica, los pasos y los tiempos en los que se baila el casino, las disímiles formas de bailarlo y describen, además, los pasillos clásicos de la rueda de casino y su procedencia.

"Collecting essays by fourteen expert contributors into a trans-oceanic celebration and critique, Mamadou Diouf and Ifeoma Kiddoe Nwankwo show how music, dance, and popular culture turn ways of remembering Africa into African ways of remembering. With a mix of Nuyorican, Cuban, Haitian, Kenyan, Senegalese, Trinidadian, and Brazilian beats, Rhythms of the Afro-Atlantic World proves that the pleasures of poly-rhythm belong to the realm of the discursive as well as the sonic and the kinesthetic." ---Joseph Roach, Sterling Professor of Theater, Yale University "As necessary as it is brilliant, Rhythms of the Afro-Atlantic World dances across, beyond, and within the Black Atlantic Diaspora with the aplomb and skill befitting its editors and contributors." ---Mark Anthony Neal, author of *Soul Babies: Black Popular Culture and the Post-Soul Aesthetic Along with linked modes of religiosity, music and dance have long occupied a central position in the ways in which Atlantic peoples have enacted, made sense of, and responded to their encounters with each other. This unique collection of essays connects nations from across the Atlantic--- Senegal, Kenya, Trinidad, Cuba, Brazil, and the United States, among others---highlighting contemporary popular, folkloric, and religious music and dance. By tracking the continuous reframing, revision, and erasure of aural, oral, and corporeal traces, the contributors to Rhythms of the Afro-Atlantic World collectively argue that music and dance are the living evidence of a constant (re)composition and (re)mixing of local sounds and gestures. Rhythms of the Afro-Atlantic World distinguishes itself as a collection focusing on the circulation of cultural* forms across the Atlantic world, tracing the paths trod by a range of music and dance forms within, across, or beyond the variety of locales that constitute the Atlantic world. The editors and contributors do so, however, without assuming that these paths have been either always in line with national, regional, or continental boundaries or always transnational, transgressive, and perfectly hybrid/syncretic. This collection seeks to reorient the discourse on cultural forms moving in the Atlantic world by being attentive to the specifics of the forms--- their specific geneses, the specific uses to which they are put by their creators and consumers, and the specific ways in which they travel or churn in place. Mamadou Diouf is Leitner Family Professor of African Studies, Director of the Institute of African Studies, and Professor of History at Columbia University. En medio de la pobreza reinante en La Habana a principios de los años 90, Luis Pérez, trompetista, sale hacia el aeropuerto José Martí, en la desesperada búsqueda de algún turista extranjero quien le pudiera proporcionar algunos dólares. Así conoce a Gene Kelly, piloto de unos aviones que hacían el recorrido Miami-La Habana y lo acompaña en la aventura de conocer el paraíso ficticio y farandulero creado solamente para los extranjeros en Cuba. Surge una gran amistad entre ellos a partir de las historias que hace Luis sobre las vidas de diferentes mujeres quienes ilustran, en disímiles momentos históricos, el surgimiento y la evolución de la música cubana. Se narran las historias de Anacaona y el exterminio de los aborígenes en Cuba, la de María Dolores y el asentamiento español en la Isla y la de Caridad u Oshún y la esclavitud de los africanos. Celia nos ofrece una mirada al mundo actual del son y la salsa mientras que Amalia nos lleva al nacimiento de la canción cubana. Celina nos introduce a la música campesina y Madeleine al fascinante mundo del danzón y la discriminación racial. Por último Belén nos presenta la vigorosa rumba y su entorno marginal en los solares del país.

El segundo volumen de la colección de libros Súlky Cuba, dirigida por Mercedes Borges Bartutis, está dedicado a la Salsa con una profunda investigación encarada por Bárbara Balbuena Gutiérrez Súlky Cuba es una colección de libros de danza creada especialmente para Balletin Dance Ediciones con el propósito de divulgar la obra de los creadores de la Isla. El Cuerpo Creativo, Taller cubano para la enseñanza de la composición coreográfica, de la profesora María del Carmen Mena Rodríguez, fue el volumen que tuvo el privilegio de iniciar este muestrario. Salsa y Casino, De la cultura popular tradicional cubana fue escrito por Bárbara Balbuena, Doctora en Folklore Cubano, Decana de la Facultad de Arte Danzario y coordinadora del Master Estudios Teóricos de la Danza, que se imparte en el Instituto Superior de Arte de La Habana. Con esta colección se abre un espacio para la difusión de los textos de los investigadores cubanos, más allá de las fronteras de Cuba, a la vez de aportar a la danza en el campo teórico, en el convencimiento de que todavía queda mucho por escribir e indagar, en materia de lenguajes del movimiento y artes escénicas en general. ¿De dónde surge el término salsa? Para quienes no conocen la verdadera historia, este libro es un análisis seductor y plagado de sorpresas, cuya información actualiza y ofrece un panorama histórico, a la vez que sirve de guía práctica para los interesados en el tema. Un estudio serio, que refleja años de investigación y análisis de la destacada Doctora en Folklore Cubano, Bárbara Balbuena Gutiérrez. El texto comienza con un minucioso recorrido por los antecedentes del baile casino, nombre prácticamente desconocido en el ámbito internacional, y que es la manera original en que se bailó lo que hoy se denomina salsa. El libro está estructurado en tres partes. • Comienza con un recorrido histórico que ha sido dividido en tres etapas: Los inicios del casino (1950-59), El casino en desarrollo (1960/80) y La actualidad del casino (1981-2008). • Luego se describen todos los movimientos apoyados por fotografías y gráficos, los pasos básicos y sus variantes, los giros, las formaciones grupales y de pareja. • Continúa una propuesta metodológica para impartir clases de casino y finaliza con una conclusión.

With more than seventy mouthwatering recipes, this vibrant memoir by food writer Viviana Carballo shares the Havana of her childhood -- warm nights, pounding surf, energetic music, and the memorable meals that both nourished and delighted her and her family throughout the years. In the 1940s and 1950s, at the height of government corruption, Havana was a nonstop party. Food and music defined the culture, and the pervading sensuality - the physical beauty of the city itself with its frisson of danger -- made it a magnet for tourists, gangsters, and the world's most glamorous celebrities. This was the Cuba of Viviana Carballo's magical childhood and adventurous adolescence. Born in 1939, she was the only child of a stylish and spirited woman and a handsome astrologer and writer, whose passion for food ignited Carballo's own taste for the exotic, eclectic cuisine for which Havana had become known. By the time she reached her teenage years, sultry nights dancing at the Tropicana and rubbing elbows with the likes of Ernest Hemingway, Meyer Lansky, and Guillermo Cabrera Infante nourished her hunger for the rhythm and creativity pulsating throughout her beloved city. But all of that changed in 1959, when Fidel Castro took command of this rollicking paradise, turning it into a country marked by extreme poverty, food shortages, power outages, and daily water stoppages. In 1961, Carballo left her beloved country with the clothes on her back and no idea when she would ever see her husband, family, or friends again. It is only through her memories that she has ever returned to the place that defined her. Havana Salsa is a collection of stories about her large, extended family, a rather eccentric group who conducted their lives against the extraordinary backdrop of Havana, and of her own experiences amid the city's former delicious decadence. It also showcases the food and recipes Carballo associates with each delightful family memory, beginning with her childhood in the forties (calabaza fritters, sweet plantain tortillas, and oxtail stew), through the sensual fifties (roast shoulder of lamb, Cuban bouillabaisse), and then the first eighteen months of Castro's revolution (mango pie, pollito en cazuela, and papas with chorizo). Havana Salsa tells the history of Carballo's Havana as only she can -- through the intimate and unifying experience of food, family, and friends.
