The mother's help to the religious instruction of her children. 5 pt. [in 1]. Random House Books for Young Readers
"Maggie is earthy and real, full of love and knowledge, especially on raising sons." - Steve Biddulph "Maggie's perspective on raising boys is spot on. She writes with humor and depth, providing insight and strategies for many of the most important issues facing moms. There is a lovely ease to her writing and a powerful honesty. I hope every mother of a son (and everyone else!) will read this book. The future of the world, to a great extent, depends on how we raise our boys." - Michael Gurian, New York Times Bestselling Author of The Wonder of Boys and Saving Our Sons If we can see the world through boys' eyes a little better, we will make different choices in the way we mother them... and we will find them less confusing, and love them more deeply. Mothers of sons are worried about raising their boys in a world where negative images of masculinity are front and centre of our media, almost every day. Not only that, but statistically our boys are still struggling in many ways. Even though we live in a time where we recognise that nothing in gender is fixed, it remains a fact that the influence of a mother on her son is massive. A mother of four sons herself, Maggie Dent draws on her personal experience - and over four decades work as a teacher, counsellor and now author and speaker - to help build understanding, empathy and compassion for our boys. Maggie shares her five key secrets that every mum needs to know and uses the voices of men she has worked with and surveyed to reveal what really matters in a boy's relationship with his mother and other mother figures. Maggie is one of Australia's most popular parenting authors and educators, and her seminars about boys have sold out all across Australia and in the UK. She is finally sharing her insights, her reflections, and (as always) her humour around mothering boys to help you be the mum your son needs you to be.

To My Mother Independently Published

Have you ever wished you had more information about your family, where you all came from, and what life was like for your parents and grandparents while they were growing up? I know for sure I wish that! Or, do you have a parent whose memories are fading fast, and you want to help them come back to the present? Does your parent have a diagnosis of Alzheimer's or other aging/memory problem? If so, this book might help you to slow the process. It's a beautiful, book inside and out with a monogrammed cover. One of the biggest regrets in my life is not getting a life history from my Mother before she died. Oh, I asked her to record some things, but she "never got around to it." I can't help but believe that if I had had a booklet like this that would give her memory prompts she might have found it a much more pleasant activity. And if I had actually been there and worked through it with her, I am sure the results would have been amazing! I would have learned some family history I'd love to hear about, and she would have known just how much I cared. Alas, by the time I came to this realization, it was too late and my precious Mother was gone. It's my hope that you will use this book in any way that helps you. I have included 100 questions that will help jog your Mom's (or even Grandmother's) memory. There are two pages for each question that she can fill out in detail. This can be such a fun and wonderful family resource! The questions don't have to be answered in order - but except for the very first question - What is your first memory? - they aren't actually added in any order because I've found that random questions tend to bring back more varied memories and form more associations. I'd think that you would get the best results by spending time with your Mom, filling out the book together while working through memories. Try it, and see how it enhances and deepens your relationship! My strongest hope is that this book will become a treasured family repository of memories, to be kept and cherished long after Mom or Grandmother are gone. Enjoy the extra Mom time you get while filling out this book!

I Am Just a Sweet Heart with a Mummy Voice Quadesence Press
Therapists and the general public are familiar with the terms "(s)mothering," "helicopter moms," and "boomerang sons" because they have been popularized in films like Monster in Law, Cyrus and Failure to Launch—but what makes for humorous fodder onscreen depicts a troubling issue that's being played out for real in therapists' offices, bedrooms, and divorce courts across the nation: an epidemic of men who are enmeshed in unhealthy, energy-sucking, and emasculating relationships with their mothers. Even though these men are grown and living away from Mom, her influence has left them unable to fully commit or to fully love, and they are plagued with anger issues, indecisiveness, depression, or toxic stress. In Breaking the Mother-Son Dynamic, John Lee takes an eye-opening look at how a mother's love or lack thereof impacts a son's life choices and life partner or lovers. Perhaps you are one of these men (or maybe you recognize these behaviors in the man you love). Do you hold back, swallow, or bottle up things you wish you could say to your mother for fear it would upset or "kill" her? Did you grow up hearing negative things about men, masculinity, being a male, and how you shouldn't be like 'the rest of them'? Does your mother, or did she, fail to respect your boundaries as a child, adolescent, or adult? Does your mother keep referring to you as her "baby" or her "little boy" even after you became an adult? If you answered "yes" to any of these questions, you may be caught in an unhealthy mother-son dynamic that is negatively affecting key areas of your life. Several years ago, John Lee wrote what came to be the most authoritative book on why men run from relationships, The Flying Boy: Healing the Wounded Man. Here, he visits the mother-son relationship and gently but assertively shows men how to separate from the mother energy that has a massive pull on their hearts and souls, no matter how young or old they may be. In a work that is a combination of memoir, self-help psychology, recovery and personal growth, he discovers: why a relationship of 50-50 responsibility doesn't work, and what does work; how men can stop "sonning" mothers, lovers, and wives; why one must learn his or her own "rhythm of closeness"; how to be really present to those we love and to life itself; and much, much more. Using case studies, personal stories, and assessments, the book helps men release any anger and grief toward their mothers and teaches them how to take responsibility for their adult selves; most importantly, Lee provides an understanding of what healthy adults should—and shouldn't—expect from each other. Lee shows wives and girlfriends how to stop being their man's surrogate mother and shows well-meaning mothers how certain behaviors may perpetuate an unhealthy cycle and how to better relate to their sons in healthier ways. By helping mothers and sons identify this dynamic and providing them with the tools to dismantle it, this book will change lives. For anyone who is ready to make a clean, clear, and guilt-free separation from the kind of (s)mothering and "sonning" that just hasn't worked, John Lee will show them the way.

The Alpha Mom is not your typical self-help book. There are no motivational platitudes, cute business parables or rah-rah quotes here. It won't tell you that your life turned out from conditions outside your control. It won't coat you in a comfort shell like a useless chrysalis that stops you from flapping your wings. Or attempt to slap good sense with Facebook memes to tell you you're as tough as nails. In short, I won't reinforce the mental bullshit that keeps us trapped with pity parties telling us how unlucky or unfair life had been to us. My goal is to help you break through that chrysalis towards real empowerment. To change your perspectives. To make you think and help attain the results YOU want. To awaken from the slumber of helplessness. To rise above a culture of mediocrity. So The Alpha Mom is written just for you. Maybe only you. Truth is often uncomfortable. But it exists to shatter comfort zones to help us achieve our purpose. Through a "get off your butt and start doing it" approach to help women and mothers achieve real happiness, fulfillment and contentment. For starts, women need to break three of the most common lies we tell ourselves. First, that happiness has to do with material excesses. Second, that beauty and sex appeal declines with age. And third, that women must live in accordance to societal codes and standards. A little warning though: This book can make you better but first, it may piss you off. Some of my posts may appear cynical, caustic or controversial but that's only because it will challenge, confront and contradict you own beliefs. Check out some of the truths exposed in The Alpha Mom: "Being physically attractive and sexy increases with age, not decreases." "Making a mistake in a relationship doesn't necessarily imply impropriety" "There's no such thing as an inability to exercise" "Being independent does not affect your role as a wife and/ or mother" "Compulsion to societal expectation is never forced but is a choice" Pretty cool huh? So pick it up, and I'll see ya between the covers;)
