"I always knew my father was a pirate and I always knew I wanted to be one, too." At age fifteen, Catherine's life is about to change. Her mother has just died and Catherine can't stand the thought of being sent to live with her aunt in Boston. She longs for a life of adventure. After she discovers her father's secret life as captain of the pirate ship Reprisal, her only thoughts are to join him on the high seas. Catherine imagines a life of sailing the blue waters of the Caribbean, the wind whipping at her back. She's heard tales of bloodshed and brutality but her father's ship would never be like that. Catherine convinces her father to let her join him, disguised as a boy. But once the Reprisal sets sail, she finds life aboard a pirate ship is not for the faint of heart. If her secret is uncovered, punishment will be swift and brutal.

"Captain are ye OK?"

She said in a soft dark voice, "Far from it!" He tried to console her but, she raised her hand stopping him and said, "Commander, find me faith, find me religion, because as of this moment all I see is evil and death and I will deliver to their maker all, that wish to be!" "My Captain please don't let this rage take thee! Ye are an Angel, of true beauty are ye, please let it go and don't fall from grace!" Beth stood and turned saying, "Then I charge ye with this duty, find me faith once more, until then I will be vengeful on all that harm innocents and I shall have no mercy, no quarter! Make port Commander and pray we don't cross paths with any I may depict as evil!"
