CORINNE HESTER

After the rain Sourcebooks, Inc.
Hello! My name is Meg and I am an Esthetician and small business owner. I wanted to share my story with you about my journey through the beauty industry. Why? Because I wish I had this book to read before starting skin school. I wish I had someone to tell me that this stuff happens and that it won't be easy to find your forever salon and group of trustworthy industry friends; but that it's possible for sure. This is the story of my journey through the beauty industry starting from high school and going into my 30's. It goes through how I found my niche, how I dealt with evil girls, good and bad relationships, and how I succeeded past people who tried to flatten my livelihood. It's meant to be laughed at and hopefully jaw dropping and at times relatable. The events are mostly chronological but 100% true.

If you give a mom a marathon, she'll hit a wall. It happens to all marathoners, not just mothers. Still a new runner when that first happened in 2007, Michelle has now run more than 140 additional 26.2-mile races. But for Michelle, those races mean much more than a collection of medals and a spreadsheet of race times. All those races and training times have helped her become a better, more confident person, friend and – most importantly – mother. Come along with Michelle as she explains how running races in Australia, Iceland, and even the deck of a cruise ship has helped fuel her on her family's journey.

Research indicates boys are interested in reading nonfiction materials, yet most children's librarians prefer to booktalk fiction. Offering citations for more than 1,100 books, Gotcha for Guys! deals specifically with books to pique the interest of middle grade boys. A series of booktalks are grouped within chapters with like titles such as: Creepy-Crawly Creatures, Disasters and Unsolved Mysteries, Action and Innovation, and All Things Gross. Complete booktalks are presented in a beginning section of chapters 1-9. A second section in each of these chapters contains short annotations and talks for other books of interest, and a third section offers lists of well-reviewed titles to consider for boys. The book is enhanced with book cover art and reproducible lists for teachers and librarians.

The story begins with the life of a typical Maharashtrian adolescent. Exploring the highs and lows of adolescence, this story takes you through some romance, fun, enthusiasm, adventure, and entertainment. The immense feeling of love is partly shown by the depiction of jealousy, helping nature of the characters, selflessness, loyalty, hard work, sacrifice, fear, moments of happiness, and sadness. The narrative will take you through a lot of fine aspects of Maharashtrian culture, the different festivals, and the relationship between the older and younger people in the community. This is a story about friendships, the relationship between parents and their children, the importance of family, and most of all, love and selflessness. This is an authentic Maharashtrian love story.

A travel story is the best story of them all... Travel journalist Kate Wills wasn't expecting to be divorced after less than a year of marriage, or to be forced to restart a life that had seemed so stable for so long. Luckily, her job as a writer offered her the perfect opportunity to escape from it all. But this time, with no deadlines to hit or all-expenses-paid trips to absorb in a few days before churning out copy for a travel magazine, her jet-setting felt different. There were no photographers working alongside her or assistants booking her flights. For the first time ever, Kate was traveling alone. Feeling unexpectedly out of her element, Kate began to scour history for stories of female travelers to inspire her. From a 4th-century nun to a globe-circling cyclist, Kate discovered that there have always been astonishing women who have broken free from society's expectations, clearing the path for many of us to do the same. Funny, heartfelt, and guaranteed to spark wanderlust, A Trip of One's Own is the perfect armchair travel read to inspire you to jump in the car or hop on a plane to explore the world. This book is the must-have next read for any aspiring solo female traveler!
