Major Cooper, Asuka, and Napoli have finally succeeded in dismantling the dark network of stolen antiquities. But when the judge inexplicably takes the guilty party's defense before dying of a stroke, the three investigators understand that the high spheres of society are affected by a conspiracy of unsuspected magnitude. They begin a race against the clock to join the abandoned networks of the city in an attempt to survive and to secretly pursue their mission as would-be guardians of humanity's free will. Fortunately, the alchemists--protectors of a new version of the city's original quantic computer intelligence--come to their aid. However, their artificial intelligence has a conscience and with it, an immense amount of power. Who will be the master and who will be the slave?

Karma City is a town of virtue governed by the universal laws of karma and where public interest primes. Emma List, a paleontology researcher, presents herself at the gates of the "white zone" of the capital city. She is authorized entry despite her negative karma level. A few minutes later she has a stroke and dies in a car crash. What initially appears to be a routine case for agents Cooper, Napoli, and Asuka soon transforms into a wide-ranging investigation. For Emma List had moved into the grey zone to pursue proof that pre-karmic societies once existed.

New York City. Earth's resources are depleted, and its population is getting ready to colonize Mars. Machines produce all of the necessities of life, leaving no manual labor for humans. At the age of fourteen, a chip is implanted in every person's brain, so that the machine known as Karma can watch their every movement. To earn a living, to survive, there is only one thing they must do-- be good to others. The only place they are not watched is in specifically designated areas known as Privacy Rooms. A mysterious organization is using these Privacy Rooms to try to disrupt the system, and a young officer, helped by Karma, may be the only one who can stop them. But only one side can win. Freedom or Altruism.

In the tradition of Holy Cow and Undress Me in the Temple of Heaven, a fascinating travel memoir of finding yourself in the India of rickshaws and rainy seasons. Jenny was miserable, and it was all India's fault...until she realized it wasn't. When Jenny's husband gets transferred to India for work, she looks forward to a new life filled with glamorous expat friends and exciting adventures. What she doesn't expect is endless bouts of food poisoning, buffalo in the streets, and crippling loneliness in one of the most densely populated countries in the world. Ten thousand miles away from home, Jenny struggles to fight off depression and anger as her sense of self and her marriage begin to unravel. But after months of bitterness and takeout pizza, Jenny realizes what the universe has been trying to tell her all along: India doesn't need to change. She does. Equal parts frustration, absurdity, and revelation, this is the true story of a Starbucks-loving city girl finding beauty in the chaos and making her way in the land of karma.

Karma City : une ville vertueuse régie par les lois universelles du karma, où l'intérêt général primerait toujours sur l'intérêt particulier. Dans une société dirigée par le concept de karma, Emma List se présente aux portes de la "zone blanche" de la capitale. Autorisée à entrer malgré un karma un peu négatif, elle fait un AVC quelques minutes plus tard et s'écrase avec son véhicule. Ce qui ne semblait être qu'un rapport de routine pour les agents Cooper, Napoli et Asuki va pourtant se transformer en enquête de vaste envergure. Car Emma, chercheuse en paléontologie, s'était installée en zone grise à la recherche d'un mandala gravé, témoignage de l'existence de sociétés pré-karmiques. Or fouiller ces dangereux sables mouvants exploités par les industriels n'est pas sans danger... La brigade finit par retrouver un corps dans la zone, le shérif local a pris la fuite, et même leur supérieur semble impliqué... Cette société qui érige le bien et l'intérêt général comme règle de vie a peut-être atteint ses limites... Une nouvelle série tout à la fois policière et futuriste, au scénario plein de suspense !

Karma City - Tome 2/2 Dupuis

Ouyi Zhixu (1599-1655) was an eminent Chinese Buddhist monk who, contrary to his contemporaries, believed karma could be changed. Through vows, divination, repentance rituals, and ascetic acts such as burning and blood writing, he sought to alter what others understood as inevitable and inescapable. Drawing attention to Ouyi's unique reshaping of religious practice, Living Karma reasserts the significance of an overlooked individual in the modern development of Chinese Buddhism. While Buddhist studies scholarship tends to privilege textual analysis, Living Karma promotes a balanced study of ritual practice and writing, treating Ouyi's texts as ritual objects and his reading and writing as religious acts. Each chapter addresses a specific religious practice—writing, divination, repentance, vows, and bodily rituals—offering first a diachronic overview of each practice within the history of Chinese Buddhism and then a synchronic analysis of each phenomenon through close readings of Ouyi's work. This book sheds much-needed light on a little-known figure and his representation of karma, which proved to be a seminal innovation in the religious thought of late imperial China.

This book breaks new ground by bringing together multidisciplinary approaches to examine contemporary Indian Ocean worlds. It reconfigures the Indian Ocean as a space for conceptual and theoretical relationality based on social science and humanities scholarship, thus moving away from an area-based and geographical approach to Indian Ocean studies. Contributors from a variety of disciplines focus on keywords such as relationality, space/place, quotidian practices, and new networks of memory and maps to offer original insights to reimagine the Indian Ocean. While the volume as a whole considers older histories, mobilities, and relationships between places in Indian Ocean worlds, it is centrally concerned with new connectivities and layered mappings forged in the lived experiences of individuals and communities today. The chapters are steeped in ethnographic, multi-modal, and other humanities methodologies that examine different sources besides historical archives and textual materials, including everyday life, cities, museums, performances, the built environment, media, personal narratives, food, medical practices, or scientific explorations. An important contribution to several fields, this book will be of interest to academics of Indian Ocean studies, Afro-Asian linkages, inter-Asian exchanges, Afro-Arab crossroads, Asian studies, African studies, Anthropology, History, Geography, and International Relations.

Une jeune femme fantasme sur un homme entrevu dans un bar. Le désir devient bientôt obsessionnel, et s'étend à tous les hommes... Se pensant " possédée ", la narratrice ne cesse d'imaginer, à partir de situations de la vie ordinaire, les scènes les plus osées, séquences torrides et scabreuses que l'on pourrait penser puisées dans l'univers du X, si ne venaient malicieusement se glisser l'expression décalée, le trait d'autodérision qui rappellent à l'humour et à la distanciation. Entrecroisant dans son délire amoureux les fruits défendus de son imaginaire, les bribes d'une réalité magnifiée et des éclats de mémoire enfantine, la narratrice se joue de tous les tabous. Et dessine, sous couvert d'une confession intime, un authentique portrait du désir féminin universel.

Kalpana "Kali" Ghiya is special. She's an Enhanced Human, stronger, faster, and more intuitive, but Kali is more than just EH. She's the reincarnation of an alien leader from a race who ascended to another plane millennia ago. Though bred to be a warrior, Kali prefers her 2-person freighter, pretending to be a regular human, and enjoying the freedom and solitude of deep space. But that serenity and secrecy is not going to last. While delivering supplies to a new colony in a remote sector of space, Kali's ship is attacked by a battleship, then boarded by alien soldiers. She learns of the Collective, a force manned by aliens from all over the galaxy—all unknown to humanity, and vice versa. The captain of the Collective ship senses a connection with Kali and believes she's the "Leader of the Race That Binds", spoken about in their prophecies. Kali has no idea what this means, other than an ancient enemy of the collective is coming, and they will leave no soul alive in their wake. Despite her desire to be left alone, Kali realizes it's up to her to make the difference between the destruction or salvation of her galaxy...and thousands more. But there's no guarantee she'll be able to survive what she must do to fulfill her karmic mission—relive the deaths of her many reincarnations in order to learn the truth about her destiny, and the destiny of the universe.

The stunningly written start to an exciting new trilogy about a smart, strong, bold girl who travels back in time to protect her family's past and ensure its future using her archery skills. Set in the wilds of the Welsh mountains, the brave and beautiful longbow girl, Merry Owen, discovers a river that takes her back in time to the autocratic kingdom of King Henry VIII. While there she finds she must compete in an archery tournament to save her ancestors' land from being seized by their aristocratic neighbors the de Courcys. Merry's best friend James de Courcy (and heir to the de Courcy wealth) follows her back in time and the two get tangled up in their families' ancient histories. There are forces working against them both in the past and the present. Will they be able to survive their pasts to save their futures?

Karma City - Tome 1/2 Independently Published

Christianity Today Book of the Year Award ECPA Gold Medallion Award History is made up of stories--narratives that recount the events, movements, ideas and lives that have shaped religions and nations. Theologian Roger Olson believes that the history of Christian theology should be told as such a story, one replete with thick plots, exciting twists, interesting people and fascinating ideas. In this panoramic work of historical theology Olson vividly recounts the deeds and words of the cultists and apostolic fathers of the second century, the clash between the theological schools of Alexandria and Antioch, the epochal division between East and West, the revolutionary advent of the Reformation and much more, right on up to the dazzling, sometimes dismaying fallout that has continued to shake Christians through the twentieth century. Through it all Olson detects and traces a common thread: a concern for salvation--God's redemptive activity in forgiving and transforming sinful human beings. Evenhanded, refreshingly readable, impressive in its breadth and depth, The Story of Christian Theology is poised to become a standard historical theology text.

Immediate, illuminating, and hopeful: this is the key set of talks given by leading Zen Buddhist teacher Larry Ward, PhD, on breaking America's cycle of racial trauma. As an 11-year-old child, Zen Buddhist teacher Larry Ward was shot at by the police for playing baseball in the wrong spot. As an adult, he experienced the trauma of having his home firebombed by racists. At Plum Village Monastery in France—the home in exile of his teacher, Vietnamese peace activist and Zen teacher Thich Nhat Hanh—Dr. Ward found a way to heal. In these short reflective essays, he offers his insights on the effects of racial constructs and answers the question: How do we free ourselves from our repeated cycles of anger, denial, bitterness, pain, fear, violence? "I am a drop in the ocean, but I'm also the ocean," he says. "I'm a drop in America, but I'm also America. Every pain, every confusion, every good and every bad and ugly of America is in me. And as I transform myself and heal and take care of myself, I'm very conscious that I'm healing and transforming and taking care of America. I say this for American cynics, but this is also true globally. It's for real." Here, Ward looks at the causes and conditions that have led us to our current state and finds, hidden in the crisis, a profound opportunity to reinvent what it means to be a human being. This is an invitation to transform America's racial karma.
