The enduring popularity and fascination with the art of Egypt is at the heart of this volume. This completely new survey sets out to shatter any conventional beliefs that Egyptian art is obsessed with funerary themes and full of static renderings of the human form. The authors present this art, which has a 7,000 year history, as a product of a civilization wholly different from our own. One hundred of the most significant pieces from the Brooklyn Museum of Art are chronologically organized, revealing how Egyptian 'art' developed and progressed.

The Middle Kingdom (ca. 2030–1650 B.C.) was a transformational period in ancient Egypt, during which older artistic conventions, cultural principles, religious beliefs, and political systems were revived and reimagined. Ancient Egypt Transformed presents a comprehensive picture of the art of the Middle Kingdom, arguably the least known of Egypt's three kingdoms and yet one that saw the creation of powerful, compelling works rendered with great subtlety and sensitivity. The book brings together nearly 300 diverse works— including sculpture, relief decoration, stela, jewelry, coffins, funerary objects, and personal possessions from the world's leading collections of Egyptian art. Essays on architecture, statuary, tomb and temple relief decoration, and stela explore how Middle Kingdom artists adapted forms and iconography of the Old Kingdom, using existing conventions to create strikingly original works. Twelve lavishly illustrated chapters, each with a scholarly essay and entries on related objects, begin with discussions of the distinctive art that arose in the south during the early Middle Kingdom, the artistic developments that followed the return to Egypt's traditional capital in the north, and the renewed construction of pyramid complexes. Thematic chapters devoted to the pharaoh, royal women, the court, and the vital role of family explore art created for different strata of Egyptian society, while others provide insight into Egypt's expanding relations with foreign lands and the themes of Middle Kingdom literature. The era's religious beliefs and practices, such as the pilgrimage to Abydos, are revealed through magnificent objects created for tombs, chapels, and temples. Finally, the book discusses Middle Kingdom archaeological sites, including excavations undertaken by the Metropolitan Museum over a number of decades. Written by an international team of respected Egyptologists and Middle Kingdom specialists, the text provides recent scholarship and fresh insights, making the book an authoritative resource.

Depuis ses débuts, il y a 7 000 ans, l'Egypte a vu naître une civilisation extraordinairement novatrice. Elle fut le siège d'une des cultures les plus anciennes, les plus durables et techniquement les plus accomplies qu'il nous ait été donné de connaître. À travers les âges, ses réalisations artistiques n'ont rien perdu de leur faculté d'étonner et d'émerveiller. Il est vrai qu'architectes et artistes égyptiens ont produit quelques-uns des plus grands chefs-d'œuvre de l'art mondial. Cet ouvrage présente, avec soin et pertinence, une sélection chronologique d'œuvres d'art significatives créées sur une large période historique : de l'an 4000 av. J.-C., où apparurent des œuvres très élaborées, à l'an 200 de notre ère, lorsque l'Egypte était devenue une province romaine. L'art égyptien se reconnaît instantanément, car ses canons sont demeurés inchangés durant plusieurs millénaires. Pourtant, il se caractérise aussi par une remarquable diversité dans ses formats, ses moyens d'expression, ses types d'objets et ses thèmes. Des pyramides et des temples monumentaux aux bijoux les plus délicats, l'art égyptien embrasse de nombreux domaines comme la peinture, la sculpture, la métallurgie, la céramique, l'ébénisterie et le textile. Quelle que soit la taille de ses productions, cet art frappe par sa précision et sa beauté. Les œuvres présentées dans Egypte : 4 000 ans d'art relèvent toutes de l'excellence artistique. Elles peuvent être appréciées pour leurs seules qualités esthétiques ou examinées dans le contexte de leur création. Dans son introduction concise, Jaromir Malek permet au lecteur de saisir la façon dont l'art égyptien adopta les formes qui furent spécifiquement les siennes. Au fil de légendes riches en information, il approfondit son analyse, alors que chronologie, carte, bibliographie et index offrent un accès rapide à des données essentielles. Egypte : 4 000 ans d'art révèle les chefs-d'œuvre de l'art égyptien. Présentés selon un ordre chronologique rigoureux, ils constituent une histoire succincte de l'art de l'Egypte ancienne. Enseignants et étudiants tireront profit d'une telle source de références capitales. Ce livre clair, facile à consulter, forme en outre, pour tous les lecteurs, une introduction originale à des œuvres comptant parmi les plus magistrales jamais conçues.

Egyptian Art in the Age of the Pyramids Metropolitan Museum of Art

An insightful volume delving into the enduringly compelling art of ancient Egypt, from a new historical perspective The art and architecture of Egypt during the age of the pharaohs continue to capture the imagination of the modern world. Among the great creative achievements of ancient Egypt are a set of constant forms: archetypes in art and architecture in which the origins of concepts such as authority, divinity, beauty, and meaning are readily discernible. Whether adapted to fine, delicate jewelry or colossal statues, these forms maintain a human face—with human ideas and emotions. These artistic templates, and the ideas they articulated, were refined and reinvented through dozens of centuries, until scenes first created for the earliest kings, around 3000 BCE, were eventually used to represent Roman emperors and the last officials of pre-Christian Egypt. Bill Manley's account of the art of ancient Egypt draws on the finest works through more than 3,000 years and places celebrated masterpieces, from the Narmer palette to Tutankhamun's gold mask, in their original contexts in the tombs, temples, and palaces of the pharaohs and their citizens.

Ancient Egyptian artists produced masterpieces and works of funerary art on a scale never seen before or since. This book is the first to discuss the artistic development of funerary scenes over the four hundred years of the New Kingdom, covering the different reigns of the period. It shows the sequence of events in the funeral processions and how they developed over the course of time. Moreover, it covers many different sites in the Theban necropolis, including scenes from many closed and unpublished tombs. This first-ever survey describes the pictorial drama that was the funeral procession, explores rare and unique scenes, and shows the echoes that remain from these ancient funerals in modern Egypt today.

"The Egyptian Old Kingdom (c. 2650-2150 BC) was an era of extraordinary artistic achievement—the period that gave us the Sphinx and the pyramids as well as a rich legacy of private tombs, wall paintings, reliefs, statuary, jewelry, and decorative arts. This book, the companion volume to a major traveling exhibition organized by New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Louvre in Paris, showcases the most impressive assemblage of Egyptian art and artifacts since the Tutankhamun exhibition of the late 1970s. Scholarly essays and 650 illustrations bring to life a remarkable panoply of Old Kingdom objects—temple and tomb reliefs, striking gold jewelry, handsome stone vessels, monumental statues, stelae, and exquisite statuettes. Together, text and images create a stunning tribute to the world of the Pharaohs"--Publisher's description.

This enchanted tour of Egyptian art by one of its early explorers is one of the most beautiful modern works on ancient Egyptian art. Prisse d'Avennes' monumental work, first published in Paris over a ten-year period between 1868 and 1878, includes the only surviving record of many lost artifacts. "None of Prisse's contemporaries had the skill or endurance to bring such an endeavor to such a brilliant end. He was far ahead of his time in his awareness of the vulnerability of the monuments and the need to protect them and to record them. His were the first reliable drawings of Egyptian architecture and ornaments and the first plans and sections of constructions newly excavated. He returned to Paris [in 1860] with a rich harvest of 300 drawings, 400 meters of squeezes, and 150 photographs." - Maarten J. Raven, Curator of the Egyptian Department, the Rijksmuseum van Oudheden, Leiden. Now reissued in a handy new hardbound reference format.
