This book is unique. It is a compendium of wonderful automotive treasure, as discovered. With the passage of time all cars became worthless and unloved, no matter how eminent. Racing cars inevitably became uncompetitive and redundant. Many vehicles passed into scrapyards, the motoring equivalent of a cemetery, or simply rotted away.

When civil war erupts in Somalia, cousins Domenica Axad and Barni are separated and forced to flee the country. Barni manages to eke out a living in Rome, where she works as an obstetrician. Domenica wanders Europe in a painful attempt to reunite her broken family and come to terms with her past. After ten years, the two women reunite. When Domenica gives birth to a son, Barni, also known as Little Mother, is at her side. Together with the new baby, Domenica and Barni find their Somali roots and start to heal the pain they have suffered in war and exile. This powerful yet tender novel underscores the strength of women, family, and community, and draws on the tenacious yearning for a homeland that has been denied.

Compasito Antonio Giangrande

What do Eastern Europe's booming sex trade, America's subprime mortgage lending scandal, China's fake goods industry, and celebrity philanthropy in Africa have in common? With biopirates trolling the blood industry, fish-farming bandits ravaging the high seas, pornography developing virtually in Second Life, and games like World of Warcraft spawning online sweatshops, how are rogue industries transmuting into global empires? And will the entire system be transformed by the advent of sharia economics? With the precision of an economist and the narrative deftness of a storyteller, syndicated journalist Loretta Napoleoni examines how the world is being reshaped by dark economic forces, creating victims out of millions of ordinary people whose lives have become trapped inside a fantasy world of consumerism. Napoleoni reveals the architecture of our world, and in doing so provides fresh insight into many of the most insoluble problems of our era.

Hellishly Ever After is the first installment in a new paranormal romance series by award-winning author Nadine Mutas. If you love laugh-out-loud funny enemies-to-lovers stories with enough heat to burn up the pages, you don't want to miss this book! Ever held a seance and accidentally trapped a demon into marriage? No takers? Just me? Crap. Marriage is my idea of hell, at least until the day an unfairly hot demon shows up in my apartment and drags me to actual Hell—as his wife. I'd honestly rather have a root canal without sedation than marry anyone, least of all a surly—even if damnably attractive—demon. But I'm bound to the contract stupid Teenage Me made with Azazel when I accidentally summoned and trapped him into marriage, to be consummated if I were still single at twenty-five. I'd forgotten all about it. He hasn't. And now he's here to claim me. Neither of us is thrilled about this marriage-of-inconvenience, but what I hate even more than the idea of being married...is being ignored. So when Azazel intends to park me out of sight and mind at the other end of his estate in Hell, I make it my newly eternal life's mission to be as much of a real inconvenience to him as possible. It's all fun and games, until I find a soul that shouldn't be in Hell, stumble smack-dab into the middle of a demon family feud...and the banter between me and Azazel turns so hot it might consume me. In line with the resurgence of interest in the history of archaeology manifested over the past decade, this volume aims to highlight state-of-the-art research across several topics and areas, and to stimulate new approaches and studies in the field. With their shared historiographical commitment, the authors, leading scholars and emerging researchers, draw from a wide range of case studies to address major themes such as historical sources and methods; questions of archaeological practices and the practical aspects of knowledge production; 'visualizing archaeology' and the multiple roles of iconography and imagery; and 'questions of identity' at local, national and international levels.

The gap between psychotherapeutic practice and clinical theory is ever widening. Therapists still don't know what role interpersonal relations play in the development of the most common psychopathologies. Valeria Ugazio bridges this gap by examining phobias, obsessive-compulsions, eating disorders, and depression in the context of the family, using an intersubjective approach to personality. Her concept of "semantic polarities" gives a groundbreaking perspective to the construction of meaning in the family and other interpersonal contexts. At no point is theory left in the wasteland of abstraction. The concreteness of the many case studies recounted, and examples taken from well-known novels, will allow readers to immediately connect the topics discussed with their own experience.

This book is an interactive, hands-on guide to negotiating, drafting and litigating agreements in the context of representation of professional athletes. The book begins with the negotiation and drafting of a standard form athlete representation agreement. In so doing, it details all of the NCAA amateurism rules and the legal do's and don'ts relating to the recruiting of pre-professional athletes. Subsequent chapters track the typical progression of a successful professional athlete's career: the drafting, negotiating and (where necessary) litigating of product endorsement and license agreements in the increasingly important context of protecting professional athletes' rights of publicity. Interactive group negotiation/drafting hypotheticals are also provided in the areas of fantasy sports, and of representing the "mature athlete" who is nearing the end of his career. The book concludes with a Jerry McGuire-type litigation hypothetical and settlement agreement negotiation exercise involving the "super-agent" entering and exiting the "mega agency."

Semantic Polarities and Psychopathologies in the Family Indiana University Press

Living among other people, in their families and communities, children become aware from a very early age of questions related to justice, and they search for the meaning of the world. By fostering an understanding of human rights, shaping opinion and developing attitudes, human rights education strongly supports this natural interest and learning process. This is what human rights education is about and this is what 'Compasito manual on human rights education for children' is for. 'Compasito' is a starting point for educators, teachers and trainers who are ready to deal with human rights education with children of 7-13 years. The book covers the key concepts of human rights and children's rights, and provides substantial theoretical background to 13 key human rights issues, such as democracy, citizenship, gender equality, environment, media, poverty, and violence. The 42 practical activities serve to engage and motivate children to recognise human rights issues in their own environment. They help children to develop critical thinking, responsibility and a sense of justice, and help them learn how to take action to contribute to the betterment of their school or community. The manual also gives practical tips on how it can be used in various formal and non-formal educational settings.

Emilio Comici, il più grande talento alpinistico nel periodo tra le guerre mondiali, con le sue duecento nuove vie aperte in Dolomiti, ha rappresentato, insieme a Riccardo Cassin e altri, la risposta italiana ai sestogradisti tedeschi. Capacità tecniche, purezza di stile e ricerca della linea esteticamente più pulita sono i caratteri distintivi di Comici, non a caso «inventore» della direttissima, un approccio alla scalata che «riconfigurò l'etica dell'avventura per gli alpinisti del XX secolo». L'arrampicata sui big walls e il free solo che poi attecchirono nella Yosemite Valley gli sono, più o meno consapevolmente, debitori. Ma la complessità di Comici non si ferma alle capacità e alle molte «prime volte» che gli si possono attribuire: la sua personalità sfaccettata interpreta le tensioni di un'epoca in cui spinte conservatrici e culto della modernità s'intrecciavano strettamente, anche quando si trattava di scalare. Senso della competizione e profonda lealtà verso i compagni, impegno politico e «lontananza», indipendenza e bisogno di riconoscimento pubblico sono solo alcune delle contraddizioni evidenziate da questa documentatissima biografia, che mette a fuoco anche l'ambivalente rapporto con il fascismo (suo come di molti scalatori contemporanei). E pure emergono l'estrazione proletaria, la devozione per la famiglia, le turbolente relazioni con l'universo femminile. Ma, alla fine, nell'essenzialità dell'arrampicare, tutto sembra perdere significato, o meglio, acquistarne uno rotondo e profondissimo: «gli squadristi, gli intellettuali del Club alpino o le vecchie guide locali di Cortina d'Ampezzo lo guardassero pure in tralice. Lassù, sulla parete nord della Cima Grande, la cosa vera era Leonardo Emilio Comici di via Bazzoni a Trieste, e non quegli uomini, chiunque essi fossero». La sua direzione, la sua battaglia, la sua rivincita erano incise in parete.

The debut graphic novel from Thai-Italian illustrator Elisa Macellari, Papaya Salad tells the story of her great-uncle Sompong who found himself in Europe on military scholarship on the eve of World War II. A gentle and resolute man in love with books and languages, in search of his place in the world, Sompong chronicles his life during the war and falling for his wife, finding humor and joy even as the world changes irrevocably around him. This Winner of the 2019 Autori di Immagini Silver Medal in the Comics category tells the human story of the War, from a perspective not typically seen. "An historical and emotional journey through my family and my roots that are grown between Europe and Asia. A personal narrative that needs to be shared and hopefully arouses empathy in the reader." -- Elisa Macellari
