This Festschrift has been published in honor of Rinus Plasmeijer, to celebrate the combined occasion of his 61st birthday and the 25th Symposium on Implementation and Application of Functional Languages, IFL 2013, held in Nijmegen, The Netherlands, in August 2013. Rinus Plasmeijer was the main designer of the lazy functional programming language "Clean" and has always been the leader of the associated research team. He has played a decisive role in making the Radboud University of Nijmegen an important center of research in functional programming by organizing and hosting the first few IFL symposia in Nijmegen. This Festschrift contains 19 scientific essays written by former PhD students of Rinus Plasmeijer and researchers in the field of functional programming who have collaborated with him. The authors write about the influence the beauty of functional programming has had or still has on their work.

The Apology and the Last Days National Geographic Society

Originally published in 1975, The Apology and the Last Days is the final volume in a trilogy of novels—also including The Rise and Fall of Icarus Gubelkian and How to Quiet a Vampire—about the aftermath of World War II, by Borislav Pekić, one of the former Yugoslavia's most important postwar writers. The narrator tells his story from prison, where he is serving time for the murder of a former Nazi official. As the novel unfolds, we learn that the victim was the same person whom the narrator, while a lifeguard during the war, saved from drowning, thus making him vulnerable to charges of collaboration. In this tragicomic tale, Pekić explores eternal questions of fate and individual responsibility.

This first work in a new Garland series contains translations of, and commentary on, selected epic texts from the district of Bihac in northern Bosnia. Many of the original Serbo-Croatian texts were published in 1979 by the Milman Parry Collection of Oral Literature at Harvard U. The nine oral epics translated represent in English the traditional narrative singing of Serbo-Croatian of four poets whose songs were recorded between 1935 and 1963 in the region known locally as Bihaika Krajina. The editor has incorporated with the translations additional information from other sources about the oral tradition of the region. Annotation copyright by Book News, Inc., Portland, OR

"Dreams are as black as death."

—Theodor W. Adorno Adorno was fascinated by his dreams and wrote them down throughout his life. He envisaged publishing a collection of them although in the event no more than a few appeared in his lifetime. Dream Notes offers a selection of Adornos writings on dreams that span the last twenty-five years of his life. Readers of Adorno who are accustomed to high-powered reflections on philosophy, music and culture may well find them disconcerting: they provide an amazingly frank and uninhibited account of his inner desires, guilt feelings and anxieties. Brothel scenes, torture and executions figure prominently. They are presented straightforwardly, at face value. No attempt is made to interpret them, to relate them to the events of his life, to psychoanalyse them, or to establish any connections with the principal themes of his philosophy. Are they fiction, autobiography or an attempt to capture a pre-rational, quasi-mythic state of consciousness? No clear answer can be given. Taken together they provide a highly consistent picture of a dimension of experience that is normally ignored, one that rounds out and deepens our knowledge of Adorno while retaining something of the enigmatic quality that energized his own thought.

Wer eine fremde Sprache aus freien

Stücken lernen will, ist hoch motiviert. Das Potenzial dieser Motivation auf dem Weg zum Erlernen der Fremdsprache voll auszuschöpfen – davon träumt wohl jede/r Sprachlehrer/in. Der Schlüssel dazu liegt in Lehr- und Lernprinzipien, die aus der Praxis des Erlernens der „großen“ Sprachen hergeleitet worden sind und als universal sowie sprachenübergreifend anwendbar gelten. Milica Sabo zeigt anhand empirischer Daten, welchen Bedarf es für solche Lehr- und Lernprinzipien an deutschen Hochschulen gibt und wie sie bewertet werden. Zudem klärt sie, ob diese Lehr- und Lernprinzipien auch für den Einsatz im Unterricht einer kleinen Sprache – wie hier dem Kroatischen – geeignet sind.
