En aout 1999, je me suis convertie au catholicisme. Point final pourrait-on penser. La conversion n'est pas une fin mais un depart. Une mise en mouvement etonnante de tout l'etre. On en finit pas de se convertir... au Christ. J'avais encore beaucoup de questions et une souffrance aussi, difficile a partager. J'aimais le Christ, mais j'etais divisee, je n'arrivais pas a concilier en moi le Dieu Un de la Bible et la Trinite Sainte de l'Evangile. Je me disais: le Christ est juif, il confesse le Dieu d'Israel, il ne devrait pas y avoir de rupture. En 2005, l'annee ou j'ai commence une ecole d'oraison, il m'a ete repondu au-dela de toutes mes esperances. Il n'y a pas de rupture, tout est Un. Une merveilleuse continuite, mieux, un dévoilement. Dans les lettres memes de la langue hebraique. Les mots decoupees et lus differemment livrent d'autres jeux de lecture qui lient et relie, d'une maniere vertigineuse, les deux Testaments. L'Ancien dans le Nouveau comme la graine dans le fruit, le Nouveau en l'Ancien comme une perle en son ecrin.

L'ouvrage de Paul Aubin constitue une étude de référence sur plusieurs problématiques majeures. Il concerne d'abord un problème linguistique d'un intérêt toujours actuel : le passage dans les catégories indo-européennes du message juif et chrétien concernant la conversion, formulé primitivement dans des catégories sémitiques. La morale et la religion ont en effet vivement préoccupé les premières générations de notre ère et l'ensemble des courants de pensée, des auteurs chrétiens aux philosophes néo-platoniciens, ont largement reflété ce questionnement. La notion de " conversion " est ainsi abondamment utilisée au sein de différentes doctrines, à travers une communauté de vocabulaire qui sous-tend cependant des ressemblances mais aussi des différences. Quelle est alors l'originalité de la " conversion " chrétienne parmi tant d'autres? À travers l'analyse exhaustive de la terminologie utilisée par les maîtres de la vie spirituelle au cours des trois premiers siècles, cette étude se propose de répondre à cette question linguistique mais également à une autre interrogation fondamentale : celle des différences entre les conceptions chrétienne et philosophique de la " conversion ". Pour tous, cette notion est l'une des bases essentielles de la vie spirituelle mais les uns et les autres ne la puisent pas du tout aux mêmes sources : pour les premiers, elle n'acquiert son plein sens que dans le mystère du Christ ; pour les seconds elle constitue le devoir de réaliser ce que l'on porte en soi. Deux attitudes opposées devant l'existence qui font, elles aussi, écho à des problématiques contemporaines. Le thème de la " conversion " rejoint en effet la recherche catéchétique et théologique d'aujourd'hui dans ce qu'elle a de plus profond. Il exprime en effet la découverte de Dieu au niveau non pas simplement d'une démonstration abstraite, mais d'un retournement de tout l'être. Car c'est bien un bouleversement total que l'authentique conversion à Dieu. Elle est d'ailleurs une attitude permanente puisqu'on ne cesse jamais de se convertir : tout l'itinéraire de l'âme est conversion. C'est donc finalement une des composantes essentielles de l'existence religieuse que cet ouvrage nous permet de découvrir, du questionnement autour des rencontres linguistiques de l'Antiquité à l'authentique spiritualité chrétienne

 Dans le contexte de la seconde évangélisation du Québec, la question de la conversion se pose avec acuité. Une lecture minutieuse, à l'aide de la méthode sémiotique, d'un extrait des

Confessions d'Augustin, nous permet de découvrir le processus de la conversion et la transformation qu'une telle conversion opère chez la personne. Cette étude nous révèle que la conversion chrétienne transforme les fondements de la personne, depuis ses conceptions du monde jusqu'à ses relations aux autres. Après la conversion chrétienne, la relation au temps et à l'espace est totalement transformée. La conversion est un cheminement dont les fruits paraissent arriver soudainement, mais c'est la transformation presque imperceptible de la personne qui en prépare l'éclosion. La lecture attentive que nous faisons permet de repérer ces petits détails. Ainsi, il est possible de suivre les transformations qui amènent l'acteur à vivre la transformation profonde de son être et à se convertir.

En 1955, alors tout jeune missionnaire, nous propositions a nos superieurs religieux d'entreprendre d'ecrire l'histoire de l'Eglise au Lesotho. Le centenaire de la fondation de la mission approchait et il nous semblait que le temps etait venu de tenter une appreciation du travail accompli. Malgre tout l'interet qu'ils manifesterent pour le projet, ils jugerent que les circonstances ne le permettaient pas. Dix-sept annees de travail missionarie au Lesotho, dont quinze dans les montagnes, devaient se passer avant que le projet ne reprenne vie. Encourage par les declarations contenues dans le decret Ad Gentes de Vatican II sur la necessite de la recherche missiologique en fonction tant des problemes doctrinaux que de l'activite missionarie concrete, et stimule par les trasformations rapides que connaissair l'Eglise du Lesotho, nous propositions de nouveau a nos superieurs, en 1972, d'entreprendre des recherches sur l'experience missionarie en ce pays.

This NATO Advanced Research Workshop held 25-30 September, 1988 at the Villa Gualino, Turin, Italy, was the first international meeting of its kind to be devoted solely to cell separation in plants. The partial or complete dissociation of one cell from another is an integral process of differentiation. Partial cell separations are basic physiological components of the overall programme of plant development. Complete cell separations are major events in the ripening of fruits, and the shedding of plant parts. Unscheduled cell separations commonly occur when tissues are subjected to pathogenic invasion. Environmental stresses too, evoke their own separation responses. Over the past five years much new knowledge has been acquired on the regulation of gene expression in specific stages of cell differentiation. Specific molecular markers have been identified that designate the competence of cells for achieving separation. Certain of the chemical signals (hormones, elicitors) that must be emitted or perceived by cells to initiate and sustain separation, are now known to us, and the resulting cell wall changes have come under close chemical scrutiny. The Turin meeting was a focus for those currently involved in such investigations. It assessed factors controlling cell separation in a wide spectrum of different cell types under a variety of conditions.

Le problème de la conversion. Disha Publications

Why are so many Christians stagnant in their faith? Why do we often live as though the gospel stops at the moment of conversion? The good news of Jesus doesn't stop the moment we get saved. In fact, salvation is only the beginning of God's work in our lives. We often view salvation as the ending point; it's really the beginning point. The gospel of Jesus doesn't only justify us; it sanctifies us. When we receive the Holy Spirit at salvation, an incredible work begins to happen in us: we begin to bear fruit. When we are firmly planted in the gospel and committed to growing in Christ, He produces in us the fruits of the Spirit, the marks of a true Christian. In Bearing Fruit, Robby Gallaty walks us through the life of the Christian. Biblical, intentional, and practical, Bearing Fruit points our hearts to the gracious God who called us, justified us, and is now sanctifying us by the work of his Holy Spirit.
