Over the past two decades, the percentage of the world's population living on less than a dollar a day has been cut in half. How much of that improvement is because of—or in spite of—globalization? While anti-globalization activists mount loud critiques and the media report breathlessly on globalization's perils and promises, economists have largely remained silent, in part because of an entrenched institutional divide between those who study poverty and those who study trade and finance. Globalization and Poverty bridges that gap, bringing together experts on both international trade and poverty to provide a detailed view of the effects of globalization on the poor in developing nations, answering such questions as: Do lower import tariffs improve the lives of the poor? Has increased financial integration led to more or less poverty? How have the poor fared during various currency crises? Does food aid hurt or help the poor? Poverty, the contributors show here, has been used as a popular and convenient catchphrase by parties on both sides of the globalization debate to further their respective arguments. Globalization and Poverty provides the more nuanced understanding necessary to move that debate beyond the slogans.

This book is not designed as a text book or revision guide, but as a work book. There are lots of good (and not so good) expensive and free revision guides out there, some are listed on my YouTube channel and on other great websites. So, there is no point in me adding to the pile. I'm constantly telling you the best way to revise is by practising, so I've made you a book of practice questions. All the teaching, all the new content is available for free on my YouTube channel, this book is for you to practice and learn. The best way to approach this is to watch the teaching video, or after class try a section, check the answers and then watch the video to clarify any confusion. Covering...Periodic Table Mass number and atomic number The number of protons, neutrons and electrons Isotopes Ions Elements and atoms Brackets Conservation of mass Balancing equations (Easy, Medium and Hard)Relative atomic mass and percentage of an element in a compound Calculating relative atomic mass or relative isotopic mass Moles Percentage yield Atom economy Half equations Empirical formula Reacting masses Avogadro's constant and gas volume Calorimetry Endothermic and exothermic reactions Bond energy Titration calculations Answers

Answering six mark questions in your GCSE is much more than just writing down six correct things. There is a skill to answering them that needs to be practiced. Here I have written 25 questions on each subject, given you the answers and guided you through how to answer to get full marks. The more you practice, the more confident you'll be in the exam! Example Question 58 - Renewable and Non-Renewable Energy Sources In June 2017, for the first time, over 50% of energy in the UK was supplied by renewable energy. The UK government is leading a drive to promote the increased use of renewable energy sources for generating electricity. Evaluate the use of renewable and non-renewable energy sources. This popular science book shows that chemists do have a sense of humor, and this book is a celebration of the quirky side of scientific nomenclature. Here, some molecules are shown that have unusual, rude, ridiculous or downright silly names. Written in an easy-to-read style, anyone ? not just scientists ? can appreciate the content. Each molecule is illustrated with a photograph and/or image that relates directly or indirectly to its name and molecular structure. Thus, the book is not only entertaining, but also educational.
