Using logical reasoning and the numerical clues offered, you color specific cells in a grid and - if correctly done - a hidden image will gradually reveal itself. The two-color variant in this book builds upon the classic black and white Nonograms by introducing 2 fill colors. This allows for a greater variety in logical strategies to apply and results in more detailed images. This book offers 101 such puzzles, ranging from small and easy (15 x 30 cells) up to much larger and harder ones (50 x 50 cells), which may require several hours of puzzling fun to fully resolve. Each puzzle will unveil a fun image of a cartoon character. The introduction provides an overview of possible strategies to apply and the solutions to all puzzles can be found at the very end of the book.

A book with brand new, previously unpublished Hanjie puzzles. Hanjie puzzles are known under many different names, but the game is always the same: it is your goal to paint the grid by following the clues and using logic as your main weapon. The painted grid reveals an image. This is why some call this kind of puzzles "paint doku" or "paint by numbers." The pictures in this book were designed by artists and turned into puzzles by Djape. There is also an introduction which explains the basic techniques used to solve the puzzles. Among them, the "cornering" technique is also explained. Finally, there is even a story hidden in this book, made of solved images. Can you find what it is and which images constitute the story that the author had in mind?
