The field of Sound Studies has changed and developed dramatically over the last two decades involving a vast and dizzying array of work produced by those working in the arts, social sciences and sciences. The study of sound is inherently interdisciplinary and is undertaken both by those who specialize in sound and by others who wish to include sound as an intrinsic and indispensable element in their research. This is the first resource to provide a wide ranging, cross-cultural and interdisciplinary investigation and analysis of the ways in which researchers use a broad range of methodologies in order to pursue their sonic investigations. It brings together 49 specially commissioned chapters that ask a wide range of questions including; how can sound be used in current academic disciplines? Is sound as a methodological tool indispensable for Sound Studies and what can sound artists contribute to the discourse on methodology in Sound Studies? The editors also present 3 original chapters that work as provocative 'sonic methodological interventions' prefacing the 3 sections of the book.

Chemins aux vents Fernand Lanore Soundwalking brings together a diverse group of contemporary scholars, artists and thinkers in one of the first comprehensive studies of soundwalking – the practice of moving through space while carefully listening to what it has to say – to address urgent challenges and concerns of an environmental, ethical, social and technological nature. Besides gaining insight into the historical development of soundwalking as a scholarly method and artistic genre, the reader will have a chance to learn from emerging voices concerned with this practice, of many different backgrounds and positionalities. Soundwalking demonstrates how attentive listening and walking might help with more careful and responsible navigation through the complex dimensions of our shared environments and entangled histories, often imperceptible on a day-to-day basis. The book encourages scholars, artists, and also those unfamiliar with the concept, to engage with it in their respective fields and subjects of interest as an interdisciplinary method of critical inquiry and a creative mode of communication. This book inspires readers to discover anew the potential of walking and listening, and will be of interest to students, researchers and practitioners in the areas of studies directly concerned with sound and beyond, including environmental humanities, arts, design, landscape architecture, media, and cultural studies. Chapter 10 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution-Non Commercial-No Derivatives (CC-BY-NC-ND) 4.0 license.

Lorsque dans un dernier souffle la vie s'échappe de notre corps, qu'advient-il de notre esprit ? De notre âme ? La vie existe-t-elle encore en dehors de notre enveloppe charnelle ? Depuis plus de vingt-cinq ans, Pascale Lafargue, médium parapsychologue et conférencière, explore inlassablement le monde de l'invisible. Vies antérieures, entre-deux-vies, communication avec les défunts, ce Sherlock Holmes du vingt et unième siècle enquête avec rigueur et pugnacité sur chacune des informations reçues en clairaudience ou clairvoyance. Toutes ses révélations sont ainsi suivies d'enquêtes minutieuses qui conduisent l'auteure à travers toute l'Europe, tant auprès des services administratifs que des archives ou autres organismes historiques qui lui permettent d'établir un contrôle rationnel de ses perceptions médiumniques. Ce parcours atypique, Pascale veut le partager avec tous ceux qui sont à la recherche de la vérité. C'est ainsi que cette parapsychologue dotée de capacités hors du commun met ses exceptionnelles aptitudes au service de ceux qui cherchent à comprendre leur existence, leur histoire, le cheminement de leur âme. Au-delà de l'enseignement spirituel que Pascale Lafargue nous délivre, ce livre est avant tout un formidable témoignage d'amour qu'elle nous transmet à travers les messages reçus, pour la plupart de sa maman, Mamina, mais aussi d'êtres de lumière. La profondeur de leurs propos, la paix et la douceur qui se dégagent de leurs paroles nous invitent à l'optimisme, au bonheur de se savoir épaulé à chaque moment de notre vie. Laissons-nous emporter dans ce voyage initiatique à la rencontre d'un autre monde, un monde guidé par l'Amour.

First Published in 1995. This series comprises nearly 300 romances and melodies, most of which were composed during the 40 years that saw a blossoming of the romantic spirit in all the arts in France. It brings together some of the most attractive pieces by the best songwriters of the period, and in so doing provides an overview of the development of nineteenth-century French song before Faure, Duparc, and Debussy

This book is one of the first studies of twentieth-century travel literature in French, tracking the form from the colonial past to the postcolonial present. Whereas most recent explorations of travel literature have addressed English-language material, Forsdick's study complements these by presenting a body of material that has previously attracted little attention, ranging from conventional travel writing to other cultural phenomena (such as the Colonial Exposition of 1931) in which changing attitudes to travel are apparent. Travel in Twentieth-Century French and Francophone Cultures explores the evolution of attitudes to cultural diversity, explaining how each generation seems simultaneously to foretell the collapse and reinvention of 'elsewhere'. It also follows the progressive renegotiation of understandings of travel (and travel literature) across the twentieth century, focusing in particular on the emergence of travel narratives from France's former colonies. The book suggests that an exclusive colonial understanding of travel as a practice defined along the lines of class, gender, and ethnicity has slowly been transformed so that travel has become an enabling figure - encapsulated in notions such as James Clifford's 'traveling cultures' - central to analyses of contemporary global culture. Engaging initially with Victor Segalen's early twentieth-century reflection on travel and exoticism and Albert Kahn's 'Archives de la Planète', Forsdick goes on to examine a series of interrelated texts and phenomena: early African travel narratives, inter-war ethnography, post-war accounts of Citroën 2CV journeys, the travel stories of immigrant workers, the work of Nicholas Bouvier and the Pour une littérature voyageuse movement, narratives of recent walking journeys, and contemporary Polynesian literature. In delineating a francophone space stretching far beyond metropolitan France itself, the book contributes to new understandings of French and Francophone Studies, and will also be of interest to those interested in issues of comparatism as well as colonial and postcolonial culture and identity.
