Who gets caught in the Passion Trap? It's the catch-22 of romantic relationships: The more deeply one partner falls in love, the more distant the other becomes. Now Dr. Dean Delis, a renowned psychologist who believes the passion trap is both common and curable, shows you how to change the patterns that threaten your relationship. Drawing from his counseling work with individuals and couples, he offers fresh insights and powerful, proven techniques--from Trial Closeness to Healthy Distance--to help you and your partner rekindle romance and discover a new equilibrium of love and desire for a lifetime of happiness.

Nevada politics, history, and fabulous recipes combine for an entertaining, informative memoir by renowned Chef Charlie Abowd. This "James Beard Award" winning chef has spent his life immersed in his three passions'cuisine, music and politics. Growing up in the tumult of the 1960s San Francisco music scene mixed with Vietnam War protests and activism, while learning the art of cooking at his parents' Bay Area restaurants, informed Charlie's future. He promoted concerts and provided stage lighting for the biggest bands of the time, while living in the Santa Cruz mountains. This passion continued throughout his life. During its iconic forty-year run, Adele's Restaurant, and later, Café at Adele's in Carson City, became legendary for fine dining, musicians, and celebrities that visited, and where Nevada's movers and shakers gathered. Around its tables and over delicious cuisine, business people and elected representatives made deals and negotiated legislation. Adele's played a pivotal role in bringing people together to benefit the greater Nevada good. Charlie has seen it all and now shares his stories interspersed with his patrons' favorite recipes.

You've never used a video guide like this before. You loved Chariots of Fire and you want to see something like it. Where do you start? Look up Chariots of Fire in the index, and find it in Drama. There you'll see it listed under White Flannel Films: Welcome to the glory days of the British empire when the ruling class rode horses on large country estates, servants were in plentiful supply, and only an adulterous lover questioned the status quo. As in other costume dramas, the period details are celebrations of all that was brilliant and luxurious, with the camera sweeping over British, Indian, or African countryscapes and exquisite turn-of-the-century interiors. But all this lush upholstery doesn't cover up the intelligent, thoughtful stories -- usually based on Lawrence, Forster, and Waugh novels -- played by stellar British actors. In White Flannel Films there are concise, witty reviews of select movies like A Room with a View A Passage to India Heat and Dust The Shooting Party Out of Africa White Mischief and more There is also a unique ratings system that helps you distinguish the bombs from the sleepers. But the key is that all these films offer the same kind of viewing experience -- if you like one, chances are good you'll like the others, too. Seen That, Now What? is your own personal video genius, who knows everything about movies and exactly what you like to watch.

There he was, and I saw him- dark, rich, handsome- standing so close, leaning into me against the bathroom door. His dreamy gaze met mine, and he flashed an irresistible smile. He took my breath away, and my goodness - smelled so good. I breathed him in... "Coffee," I gasped, "Where have you been? I have been waiting for you."  Pursuit of Passion is the charming culinary journey of Jamie Bordonaro along with the culmination of inspired concepts. The development of a culinary concept is the culmination of a chef's professional and personal experience. In each "recipe" one can identify various distinguishing factors of a chef's tendencies regarding flavor, technique, and aesthetic approach. Each plate is a genuine reflection of a chef's cultural background, family history, and childhood nostalgia. The following concepts are compilations of the techniques, flavor profiles, and skills I acquired throughout my culinary career.
 These "recipes" are strictly labeled as concepts, as the term "recipe" denotes a calculated notation of procedure. I forgo the inclusion of specific measurements, as the aim of this venture is to showcase the design and verbalize the intricate descriptions of the cooking processes and inspirations of each dish. The end goal is sharing experience and encouraging ingenuity in cooking, rather than self-appraisal. The descriptive language and vivid imagery surrounding the dishes or concepts-in lieu of complicated recipes-strips the format of any pretension or intimidation. The concepts are written as stories of inspiration along with vivid descriptions of the interplay of flavors and applications of techniques which harmonize to create a finished dish. This format almost deserves the classification as a cook- story rather than a cookbook.
 The phrase provides readers with a meaningful and powerful double entendre as this book is a "cook-story" as well as a "cook's story". Readers will enjoy the fascinating introduction and the delightful tale surrounding the circumstances and events which led me down my culinary path. My previous experience in New York includes a culinary externship from the Culinary Institute of America with Picholine Restaurant, one incredibly valuable year with Bouley, and two and a half years working through the illustrious Le Bernardin restaurant. The exposure to such exquisite examples of culinary greatness at such high levels of execution has undoubtedly inspired the culinary concepts which comprise this project. The quality education from Central Connecticut State University also helped to enrich the literary prowess which fortifies the culinary concepts of the Pursuit of Passion.
