Cindy Pearson is getting her wish — the perfect wedding on Belle Island. As she dodges a steady stream of obstacles that threaten to thwart her plans, she can't quite avoid her nagging doubts about her fiancé. Jamie McFarlane has one wish — to make a success of the coastal inn he and his mother inherited. He gets his chance to boost the inn's reputation as a premier wedding destination by putting together a perfect wedding for his childhood friend, Cindy. There's only one problem — as Cindy and Jamie rekindle their relationship, he realizes his feelings run deeper than mere friendship. If he gives Cindy the wedding of her dreams, he'll miss his one chance with her. If he stops the wedding, he'll crush her dream and lose his opportunity to save the inn. Sometimes, the wishes a person makes don't come true — and sometimes unspoken wishes are the best wishes of all. Penelope Rider has transformed her uncle's utilitarian beach house in Seahaven into a beautiful venue for intimate weddings, but she's struggling to promote her new venture and her money is running out. When she offers a steep discount to a social media celebrity, who books the house for her ceremony, reception and the week leading up to her big day, Penelope hopes she's finally gotten the break she needs—until a handsome stranger shows up claiming he booked the house over a year ago for a fishing vacation that same week. It's been a rough year for Westin Abbott the fourth, Wes to his friends. Just when he's ready to start his own fishing charter business, his parents boot his sister from the family telecommunications business and demand Wes step in as CEO—right now. He's agreed to take on the job, but not until after one last fishing trip with his favorite guide. He's come back to Seahaven every year for a decade, but when he arrives this time he finds Fisherman's Point is now EdgeCliff Manor, and a stranger is running the show. A very pretty stranger. She's filled his quiet getaway with a raucous wedding party, and she claims she knows nothing of his longstanding booking. Penelope can't believe there's an outstanding reservation left from her uncle's fishing charter days. She's got only one room left to offer Wes—the spare bedroom in her attic apartment. When he asks if there's any way she can take him fishing on her uncle's old boat, it's hard to say no when one bad review could tank her business. Now she's fishing in the morning and dealing with a bridezilla and her entourage the rest of the day. Can she possibly pull this off? Or will she lose the beach house she loves so much?

Happily ever after begins today. The honor of your presence is requested at a year of weddings . . . A January Bride Madeleine Houser's pen-pal friendship with a lonely widower has taken an unexpected turn. A February Bride Allie left the love of her life at the altar—to save him from her family curse. A March Bride Susanna found her prince, and happily ever after is just around the corner. But first, they must pass one final test. An April Bride Weeks away from the wedding, Stella and Marshall must choose between faith in their past love or a very different future than either imagined. A May Bride Ellie has prepared for her wedding all her life . . . but she's forgotten the most important part. A June Bride The reality show ended with an engagement, so why doesn't this feel like the fairy tale Wynne thought it would be? A July Bride In a moment of total panic, Brendan left Alyssa at the altar. What will it take for him to win her back? An August Bride As far as Kelsey Wilcox is concerned, her last cowboy was the last cowboy. A September Bride Annie is ready to call this new town home, but one handsome policeman is ready to stand in her way . . . even if it means walking her down the aisle. An October Bride What if the only way to make your father's last wish come true . . . was to marry the man of your dreams? A November Bride Can a decades-long friendship marred by romantic missteps ever lead to happily ever after for Sadie and Erik? A December Bride What started as a whim turned into an accidental—and very public—engagement in Chapel Springs this holiday season.

Five Star Reviews! "I'm the guy. I only get to make suggestions, but when I showed a beach wedding to Nancy, she sure lit up. This book helped me sell it, because there are a few things to take care of that I didn't think of. My big idea: I'd like a yacht docked close by that could take us out on the water as part of the reception. I now see how that's possible. All the pictures gave Nancy some ideas for decorations and design. That is helpful, but the author also gave us her source for the items. I could see the prices immediately, so I could keep her away from the really expensive items....she's watching me write this." "I absolutely loved this book. It was a fun read and gave me plenty of potential ideas for a beach wedding. I am seriously contemplating switching from a fall wedding to a beach wedding." "Paris has outdone herself on this book. I have always loved the beach and these wedding themes are perfect. You won't believe how elegant a beach wedding can be. There are ideas for three themes and gorgeous pictures to help you envision your perfect day. From the themes to wedding centerpieces and favors. She even includes a link to make it easier for you to find sources for these great ideas." Inside Beach Wedding Ideas Beach weddings are exploding in popularity today because of the romantic and exotic atmosphere the water, sun and the beach create. Thinking Through New Literacies for Primary and Early Years is an accessible text that encourages readers to consider deeply what is meant by 'literacy' today. It explores the many different ways in which teachers and children develop their own literacy. Specifically written for education students in the later years of their course, the text draws on research and practice to explore the challenges and opportunities involved, while helping to develop the reader's own critical thinking skills. The book begins by asking 'what's new about new literacies?' and goes on to explore some technological innovations designed to support the emergent reader and writer. It considers verbal literacy, speaking and listening, and visual literacy. Readers are encouraged to think through the issues surrounding inclusion and the legal and ethical issues raised by this post-typographic age.

Throughout, practical guidance runs alongside structured critical thinking exercises to help the reader reflect on both theory and practice. About the Thinking Through Education Series Thinking Through Education is a series of texts designed and written specifically for those education students entering the second or final phase of their degree course. Structured around sets of specific 'skills', each chapter uses critical thinking and reflective exercises to develop greater subject knowledge and critical awareness. Each book contains links to the Teachers' Standards providing students with a clear transition from study to practice.
