Written by outstanding scholars, the themes of this book cover a wide range of issues at the heart of the study of organizations. These include debates over the role of economics in strategic management research and the now classic exchanges between Jeff Pfeffer and John Van Maanen over the direction of organization science studies; discourses that describe, analyze and critique ways to represent and understand organizations, including a re-appraisal of

Gibson Burrell and Gareth Morgan's seminal work on sociological paradigms of organizational analysis and views on (organizational) culture expressed by several leading writers on the topic: It includes dialogues on some quite radical or unusual "takes" on organizational life: the role of the tempered radical, working inside the organization for fundamental change; the dilemmas facing individuals' publishing qualitative research in mainstream journals; the implications of adopting a spiritual lens to the study of organizations; and a discussion of ways to better bridge the gap between academic thinking and business practice.

New Era Management

Thomson South-Western
Este no es un texto más sobre Administración. En esta obra, lo teórico es muy práctico, y la práctica no omite los “por qué”, los “por qué no” y los “para qué”. Frente a la complejidad del quehacer empresario y de su contexto, es cada vez más necesario abandonar los enfoques lineales o fragmentados, y reemplazarlos por modos de pensar y actuar integradores, que interrelacionen y realimenten, o sea, enfoques sistémicos. El libro está escrito por 12 personas con diferentes trayectorias y enfoques. Su creador y coordinador, Enrique G. Herrscher –cuyo estilo expositivo los lectores ya conocen de sus otros libros en esta colección–, es autor de 12 de los 32 capítulos. Otros 11 capítulos -de los dos coautores principales, Alfredo Rébora y Claudia D’Annunzio, respectivamente decano e investigadora especializada en PyMEs, de la Facultad de Ciencias Económicas de la Universidad Nacional del Centro (Pcia. de Buenos Aires)- aportan su visión eminentemente académica. Y los 9 capítulos de otros tantos colaboradores tienen, como es obvio, la impronta de sus particulares visiones y campos de actuación. El conjunto está enfocado a las empresas de tamaño mediano de la Argentina y –por analogía– de Latinoamérica, que tengan el impulso de llegar a medianas. Todas ellas deben estar bien administradas, so pena de desaparecer (a diferencia de la gran empresa, capaz de perdurar gracias a sus recursos). Todas deben ser eficaces en su planeamiento, gestión y control. No se trata de rentabilidad solamente económica, sino también social: que su desempeño sea el de un subsistema de la sociedad y que su aporte sea mayor que los recursos que le extrae. Esta noción explica el foco de la presente obra y la justifica.

Organization Theory and Design GameBlast

What is it that makes certain organizations more successful?

Organization design and its management has long been the fixation of leaders and scholars alike. Cracking the code to the perfect organizational ecosystem appears to be the dividing line between great success and mediocrity. The 21st century launched with great volatility and a level of cultural and global diversity unknown by previous generations. This instability demands new approaches and methods for the delivery of products, services and ideas. We can no longer afford to run organizations with 19th and 20th century ideas. The pressures of shifting demographics, culture and technology require new approaches to organizational leadership and structures. Welcome to the era of the Open Organization. The Open Organization: A New Era of Leadership and Organizational Development, by Dr Philip A Foster, is divided into three distinct parts; the first explores the foundations of an Open Organization, covering the evolution of leadership and organization theories from the beginning of known time through to the 21st century; the second discusses the elements of such an organization, presenting the ecosystem of an Open

System with its structure, culture and decision-making functions, while the third examines the 21st century organization, questioning 'who should go Open' and reviewing the reality of creating this type of organization, understanding control and resistance and addressing the matter of bringing about change.

This new entry to the organizational behavior market benefits from the experience of the authors, Dick Daft and Ray Noe.

Dick Daft has substantial experience with macro issues of management and Ray Noe has impressive experience with micro issues. Blending their experience gives this text authority throughout Organizational Behavior John Wiley & Sons This book serves to illustrate the difficulty in explaining the role of human resources and the complexities implicit in the management of people working together in various kinds of organisations, and, more specifically, the existing links between the management of human capital and the functioning of the organisation. Several chapters provide an accurate picture of topics and issues that are relevant today in the area of human resource management, by bringing together different approaches and levels of analysis that undoubtedly enrich one another. The opening chapters are theoretical reviews and approaches of differing degrees of abstraction that explain the connections between human resources management and the performance of the organization, including such topics as the importance of correctly implementing the processes of human resources management, and the role that the Human Resources Department can play in this; the importance of these management practices being interiorised and embedded in the whole organisation; and the debate on the effects that management systems based on both control and commitment have on the behaviours of individuals. Delving into the relationship between human resources management and organisational performance, the second part of the book investigates the effect that social networks and work groups have on an organisation's results; the effect of job satisfaction on the differences and disagreements between an organisation and employee with respect to the behaviours expected; and finally the measurement of happiness at work with regards to three dimensions: engagement, job satisfaction and affective organisational commitment. These eight chapters were considered the best papers presented at the 9th International Workshop on Human Resources Management, held on October 30th–31st, 2014, at Pablo de Olavide University, Seville, Spain.
