Whether you have been experiencing manipulation for years, or if this is something entirely new, psychological manipulation can be tricky to decipher.

Mostly because the manipulators themselves are true masters of emotional disguise. More often than not, their sweet talking covers their self-serving, dishonest, and, on the whole, sinister intentions. On top of this confusing mismatch of words and examples have also been included in this text to help you get the hang of pinpointing and understanding what emotional manipulation looks like in the real world.

Human Predators are people who have no issue (morally, emotionally or psychologically) with making life difficult for others, especially when the results of the action make life easier for themselves in the process. Not every predator has the same motive, drive, goal or method so it is important to know how some of the more prevalent types of Human Predators and how to identify them so that you are ready no matter when or where you encounter these people. One of the most frequently exhibited personality traits of Social Predators is their base desire to win at everything. This could be in serious matters such as establishing dominance in a room full of co-workers or it could be in simple conversations such as small talk in an elevator. They are interested in their own advancement in both personal and professional matters and see their route to their goals as being achieved by improving their social standing or making important connections that could be relied upon in times of struggle. Most people meet Social Predators in the workplace, becoming the victim of their verbal and mental abuse at the office. While their determination and eye for details make people who classify as Social

Predators potentially efficient and productive employees, they do not work well with others, making team projects or events impossibilities without considerable negotiation or behavioral monitoring from someone they acknowledge as superior. While it is less common, Social Predators can display violent attitude changes and physically abusive behavior in their personal, private and romantic encounters. Predators get their name from their animalistic or primal behaviorisms and ways of viewing their fellow human beings. One identifiable characteristic that is associated with predators is how they choose their prey or hunting grounds. Social Predators for example are able to use their carefully developed social skills to work their techniques in almost any settings. Sexual Predators on the other hand are better able to put their specializations into action in familiar and controlled settings, targeting a specific type of person or chain of events. It's highly unlikely that you realize you're being manipulated. Yet the truth of the matter is, manipulation is everywhere around us It's part of Dark Psychology!!! It is in sales adverts that try to entice you to buy something that you do not need by convincing you that you do need it. It is in the puppy eyes of a lover or child trying to get something out of you.

Manipulation is also at play when a passenger is trying to charm a flight attendant into getting a first-class upgrade. In short, manipulation is everywhere in your daily life. The only reason it goes unnoticed is because high chances are that you are not looking out for it. In many cases, it is often so subtle that even if you were looking for it, you would not notice it. Do you want to know how to stop and spot manipulation? Dark Psychology 101 can help you: This complete guide covers the following topics:

Part #1 Manipulation

Part #2 Persuasion

...And much more

Although persuasion seeks to change your mind, it need not be a dark or negative experience.

Psychological manipulation might have the same goal as persuasion, but is unscrupulous and exploitative in the way it goes about it. So, to clarify the difference between the two is that when you merely seek to persuade your intention is merely that: to persuade. Behind this intention is the belief that in persuading the person, there will be some benefit, either to them or in some other sense. You're not seeking to harm them for your own benefit; in some sense your motive is altruistic or idealistic. You're at least trying to do some good. The interesting thing, as we shall see, is that either party uses very similar techniques out of different motives and to very different ends. The hope is that by the end of this book, you'll have an understanding of these techniques and be able to spin more convincing arguments yourself and recognize the negative influence of manipulators and be prepared to counter it. The Art of Manipulation Do you want to learn the art of Emotional Manipulation, Persuasion and NLP? Are you ready to disclose over 101 practical secrets of Dark Psychology? If yes, then keep reading... Have you ever been in a situation where you felt somebody is getting the better side of the deal and you cannot seem to fight it? Have you been convinced into doing something which in hindsight seems very unlike yourself? Have you been in a relationship where you knew the person was wrong for you but they always had a majestic hold on you and kept you pulling down in their gravity? If you answered yes to any of these questions, then you have experienced the science and arts of Dark Psychology first hand. Keep on reading because you are going to learn about a whole new dimension of human Psychology that you encounter in your everyday life and need to protect yourself from it! You do not need to be a science expert to understand the different aspects of Dark Psychology. Now most of us have a general understanding on Psychology as study of general human behavior, how we think, how we act and how we interact; but if the concept of Dark Psychology is new to you, in layman terms, it's some kind of "black magic" that people with powerful influences use to prey upon you to get what they desire, using the tactics of manipulation, coercion and persuasion. Dark Psychology is the study of innate human behavioral patterns as it relates to the psychological nature of people to victimize other humans and living creatures. Understanding the inherent thoughts, feelings and perceptions of humans that leads to human predatory behavior is at the heart of Dark Psychology studies. All of the humanity is capable of carrying out such criminal and deviant acts and while most of us successfully inhibit and overcome these impulses, a few amongst us embrace these tendencies and commit heinous acts against others. The assumption here is that this predatory behavior is almost always driven by a goal and rationale with a motive but in few of those instances people brutally victimize others with no purposive intent and act on sheer impulse. This book gives a comprehensive guide on the following: The art of dark psychology Different types of emotions and how to manipulate them How a good manipulator uses people's emotions for his advantage What is mind control, why use it? Hypnosis and its application How to influence people with the maximum efficiency and minimum effort? The fear-and-relief technique How does a person work?
