For centuries, we've searched for what we feel we've been missing: more wealth, more love, and more happiness. Author Nancy Blaasch believes we already have this within us. In Me, Myself, and I, she shows how to connect with ourselves first, the best gift we can give and receive. Offering a new perspective on how to become all we can be and achieve our goals, Blaasch helps you to:

- protect your space and live a more fulfilling life, rewarded by your consciousness, your thoughts, and the power of who you are;
- discover your own truth and the joy, abundance, and love it offers you;
- understand why you are here, connecting and learning to receive messages from your guides, guardians, and ancestors;
- learn why being human is so challenging, yet also understand how to move through each day, encountering each person with new awareness and energy; and
- stand within your own power, shining your divinity to others.

In Me, Myself, and I, Blaasch teaches how to take back your power, your light, and shine to all others. She communicates that to hold your own truth with love and pride, you don't need to be what you're told is expected of you. You can be free, happy, and content in the new light, achieving awareness of a higher consciousness.

Are You Tired Of Pretending To Be Someone You're Not And Feeling Like You Don't Belong? If You Are Then This Book Is For You! Are You.....longing for meaningful relationships?...finding it hard to connect with people?...worrying too much about what people think?...hanging out with fake people?...lacking self-confidence?...don't like what you've become? You NEED to learn to Be Yourself. I was an only child. My parents couldn't have more kids because all my brothers and sisters who came after me didn't make it. So, my parents treasured me. I was spoiled, sheltered, and grew up naive. My gentle-hearted mom showed me her love by giving me almost everything I wanted. My deaf-mute dad showed me his affection by giving me money in public for all to see, including the other kids who decided to take advantage of me. Some of my childhood "friends" only wanted me for the free snacks and cool toys. If I didn't buy them snacks or couldn't lend them my toys, they wouldn't play with me. I believed that in order to make new friends and keep my existing friends, I had to be cool and give them everything they wanted from me. I became a people-pleaser. I didn't always know who my real friends were and I always had to work very hard to look cool and confident so people would like me. I didn't care much about myself and all that mattered to me was that people liked me. Eventually, it all came crashing down and I was left all alone because nobody liked me for real. Fast-forward to the present... I don't have hundreds of "friends," but every single one of friends are real. I'm not physically fit, but I have a girlfriend who loves me deeply and thinks I'm sexy. I don't have to be anything other than myself, and I am happy. I know that I have a place to go home to, and people I belong with. ISN'T THAT WHAT YOU WANT FOR YOURSELF TOO? I learned the hard way in order to get to where I am now. I got left behind, ignored, and got hurt. I made mistakes and hurt other people who didn't deserve it. I'll tell you all about it inside this book. You don't have to learn the hard way. You can read about everything I went through and learn the same things I learned from those experiences by reading this book. Inside "How To Be Yourself", you'll discover: How to start transforming your life and improving the quality of your relationships. How to get over shyness and talk to anyone. How to STOP worrying about what others think. How to build meaningful relationships. How to express yourself genuinely. How to be the best that you can be. ...and so much more! During seasons of tribulation, seeking God can be hard, but you can end up with negative consequences if you don't! This book will highlight some of the most common mistakes Christians make when going through the storms of life. 1) Not seeking Him when a situation arises, 2) Not following His directions, 3) Not spending time in praise and worship, 4) Not reading His word to learn of Him, 5) Not learning the Master's voice, 6) And, not giving thanks in everything. Out of these pages, you will see what I learned to do and not to do in my everyday walk with Christ: during trial seasons and seasons of blessings.

Written for people who are of three minds about everything, The Battles of Me, Myself and I contains more than 2,500 jokes and one-liners that offers readers three ways they can learn to outwit themselves to get some control over themselves in life. What results is a chronicle of the fight to the finish and all the battles that staged the mindfield it followed. Willidau has torn himself apart to become one and in the process learned a lot about the tactics of Me, Myself and I and how they all try to control him. Ken Willidau's philosophy is that if you can't beat them then join them, even if you all have to be beaten to become one. Willidau fights courageously to scare himself into submission and, in the end, will live in peace with himself knowing that Me, Myself and I each have something within the whole that would create a hole in his life without any of them. Chapters chronicle the inner battles that rage on within a brain that looks like it's at peace with itself, on the outside, but is waging a tri-polar cold war with itself, on the inside. Among them, "Don't Blame Me", "Holding Myself Back", "I Shall Overcome", "Trying To Be Me", "Holding on to Myself" and "I Am Meeting My Maker" make for a battle for the ages and every loss and triumph in it doesn't grow old. The war is covered by a correspondent of jokes using wit, dark humour, arm-in-sling, plays on words and triple-detentendre humour. Drafting yourself into fighting the conflicts with Ken will show you how to deal with your own inner battles and show you how, in the end, you can resolve anything to be at peace with yourself in the ruins that were you. The Battles of Me, Myself and I is a perfect read for those times when you have three things in mind to do, at once, and you aren't going to let yourself pick sides in that battle and will settle on reading about someone else's wars with himself to keep the peace for, and come to terms with, yourself. Let the mind games begin.

#1 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER • A special 25th anniversary edition of the beloved book that has changed millions of lives with the story of an unforgettable friendship, the timeless wisdom of older generations, and healing lessons on loss and grief—featuring a new afterword by the author “A wonderful book, a story of the heart told by a writer with soul.”—Los Angeles Times “The most important thing in life is to learn how to give out love, and to let it come in.” Maybe it was a grandparent, or a teacher, or a colleague. Someone older, patient and wise, who understood you when you were young and searching, helped you see the world as a more profound place, gave you sound advice to help you make your way through it. For Mitch Albom, that person was his college professor Morrie Schwartz. Maybe, like Mitch, you lost track of this mentor as you made your way, and the insights faded, and the world seemed colder. Wouldn't you like to see that person again, ask the bigger questions that still haunt you, receive wisdom for your busy life today the way you once did when you were younger? Mitch Albom had that second chance. He rediscovered Morrie in the last months of the older man's life. Knowing he was dying, Morrie visited with Mitch in his study every Tuesday, just as they used to back in college. Their rekindled relationship turned into one final “class”: lessons in how to live. “The truth is, Mitch,” he said, “once you learn how to die, you learn how to live.” Tuesdays with Morrie is a magical chronicle of their time together, through which Mitch shares Morrie's lasting gift with the world.

Me, my Self, and I FIVE STEPS TO BECOMING YOUR real Self: “ THE UNTOLD STORY “ (Mind & Body) Most of us want to understand more about ourselves and who we are in everyday life. The reality in which we live may resemble somebody else's life and dreams (our First Program), causing us to repeat patterns of our parents and family members, this happens at the cellular level (behavioural cells) and is recorded in the same way as DNA. Through our senses, we are creating an internal picture (the movie of our life) and like a movie it will follow a script which shapes and influences our beliefs and values in all our choices. This book is a five-step Self-realization kit to create a new script in Light of our new choices and evolution, taking us on the road to becoming our real Self! We can reprogram ourselves with repetition in the same way we learn a new skill or sport. Just as our ancestors knew and practiced, this will involve our Mind & Body in connection with the planet and its living things. What affect others affects us as well - we all live in the same fish tank. The last chapter explains numerology and its meaning in our everyday life, because every fruit has its season! All through the book I use simple explanations about my understandings of the process of life to make it easy for you. I hope you will find your Self in this book. My life has been a continuous investigation into the mystery of the human Mind & Body behaviour. I have been using these same five steps in my life, starting from the bottom and heading towards the top. The process continues. God bless you, Gianluca Boschi Dreams are our unconscious Mind (heart) at its very best!

Me, Myself and I the Kid in the Mirror Routledge

Author, Mary L. Brown-Wilson, book is about "truth;" of her life journey, the good the bad and the ugly. The story of lost innocence; as a small child. About a young and dumb teenager, that rushed into adulthood to fast. Writing this book is very revealing and bittersweet; to re-live the long ago pains, hurts and joys. At times, while writing, I smiled, laughed, cried, and was saddened. Remembering being molested, sibling rivalry, called names because, my skin was too dark, accordingly; to members in my own community; then, to be hated because of my race and to be beaten, cheated on and falsely accused. Then, life shows-up and hurls a curve ball and I am trapped; in a eleven years drug addiction. So, whom is the blame? What caused my unethical behaviors? Is it my cultural background, or harbored hurts, pains, and my own shame? However, as of now; those questions are irrelevant, my soul is free; of it all. I have lived a life, long enough; to learn from my own mistakes and accept the harm; that, has been done to me. With this knowledge, I am self-assured; that I can express my personal opinions; on, many of this world's woes.
