They were leaving. I didn't wave. They didn't wave. They didn't even look back! I guess you don't if you've just killed someone. Especially if that someone is your brother-in-law. Thus began Stuart Andrews' sixteen-hour survival ordeal in the Caribbean Sea off the island of St. Nantes. Once miraculously ashore, he had to remain dead to the people who had done their best to drown him while on a fishing excursion during the time their cruise ship was in port. Luckily, Stuart had funds and resources that his would-be murderers didn't suspect, so he was able to craft a new identity and a plan. A plan for revenge that he would execute in his own time and in his own way. After all, the saying was, "Vengeance is a dish best served cold." Payback is a Bitch! At eighteen years of age, Myah has really matured into the spitting image of her late mother. With the looks, the confidence, and a king pin for a boyfriend, Myah appears to be on top of the world. But the fact remains; there is still no closure to her mother's unsolved murder. Feeling that her plan for revenge will help bring justice to a case that's long been forgotten, Myah secretly tries to persuade the one person she believes is responsible, to think that she is deeply in love with him. Now that she has his trust, Myah has to act fast before he realizes just who she really is. Knowing that Henry is not one to be played with, if he learns that she isn't who she lead him to believe she is, he could turn the tables back around on her. Myah is now forced to make a decision, the question is, will that decision cost her, her life. With the challenge of keeping this secret, not only from her best friend, but her boyfriend as well. Myah is trapped between a rock and a hard place when she learns just how dangerous revenge truly can be --

Opposites attract in this wickedly charming rom-com by Lana Harper, New York Times bestselling author of Payback's a Witch. Wild child Isidora Avramov is a thrill chaser, adept demon summoner, and—despite the whole sexy-evil-sorceress vibe—also a cuddly animal lover. When she's not designing costumes and new storylines for the Arcane Emporium's haunted house, Issa's nursing a secret, conflicted dream of ditching her family's witchy business to become an indie fashion designer in her own right. But when someone starts sabotaging the celebrations leading up to this year's Beltane festival with dark, dangerous magic, a member of the rival Thorn family gets badly hurt—throwing immediate suspicion on the Avramovs. To clear the Avramov name and step up for her family when they need her the most, Issa agrees to serve as a co-investigator, helping none other than Rowan Thorn get to the bottom of things. Rowan is the very definition of lawful good, so tragically noble and by-the-book he makes Issa's teeth hurt. In accordance with their families' complicated history, he and Issa have been archenemies for years and have grown to heartily loathe each other. But as the unlikely duo follow a perplexing trail of clues to a stunning conclusion, Issa and Rowan discover how little they really know each other... and stumble upon a maddening attraction that becomes harder to ignore by the day.

When Walter is suspended from school he just wants to wait quietly for the summer holidays to start so he can see his friends again. His parents have other ideas. Worried that Walter will be lonely they bring home Darla: the dog he never wanted. Tales from the Shadows: One of my biggest influences growing up was The Twilight Zone. I loved the short format and clever plot twists and began to copy them in my own writing. Over time I found other influences but I never lost my love for the series. Tales from the Shadows is an anthology series in a similar vein to Rod Serling's landmark show but with a few twists of my own. The stories themselves may be unrelated but you might find places and names that crop up from time to time revealing a larger story at play.

The first Asian woman in hip-hop, Sophia Chang shares the inspiring story of her career in the music business, working with such acts as The Wu-Tang Clan and A Tribe Called Quest, her path to becoming an entrepreneur, and her candid accounts of marriage, motherhood, aging, desire, marginalization, and martial arts. Fearless and unpredictable, Sophia Chang prevailed in a male-dominated music industry to manage the biggest names in hip-hop and R&B. The daughter of Korean immigrants in predominantly white suburban Vancouver, Chang left for New York City, and soon became a powerful voice in music boardrooms at such record companies as Atlantic, Jive, and Universal Music Group. As an A&R rep, Chang met a Staten Island rapper named Prince Rakeem, now known as the RZA, founder of the Wu-Tang Clan, the most revered and influential rap group in hip-hop history. That union would send her on a transformational odyssey, leading her to a Shaolin monk who would become her partner, an enduring kung fu practice, two children, and a reckoning with what type woman she ultimately wanted to be. For decades, Chang helped remarkably talented men tell their stories. Now, with The Baddest Bitch In The Room, she is ready to tell her own story of marriage, motherhood, aging, desire, marginalization, and martial arts. This is an inspirational debut memoir by a woman of color who has had the audacity to be bold in the pursuit of her passions, despite what anyone—family, society, the dominant culture—have prescribed.

Kurtherian Endgame
Chilling Adventures of Sabrina meets The L Word in this fresh, sizzling New York Times bestselling rom-com by Lana Harper. Emmy Harlow is a witch but not a very powerful one—in part because she hasn't been home to the magical town of Thistle

Grove in years. Her self-imposed exile has a lot to do with a complicated family history and a desire to forge her own way in the world, and only the very tiniest bit to do with Gareth Blackmoore, heir to the most powerful magical family in town and casual breaker of hearts and destroyer of dreams. But when a spellcasting tournament that her family serves as arbiters for approaches, it turns out the pull of tradition (or the truly impressive parental guilt trip that comes with it) is strong enough to bring Emmy back. She's determined to do her familial duty; spend some quality time with her best friend, Linden Thorn; and get back to her real life in Chicago. On her first night home, Emmy runs into Talia Avramov—an all-around badass adept in the darker magical arts—who is fresh off a bad breakup . . . with Gareth Blackmoore. Talia had let herself be charmed, only to discover that Gareth was also seeing Linden—unbeknownst to either of them. And now she and Linden want revenge. Only one question stands: Is Emmy in? But most concerning of all: Why can't she stop thinking about the terrifyingly competent, devastatingly gorgeous, wickedly charming Talia Avramov?

Dark mysteries come to East Hampton while a struggling lawyer fighters to save his friend from being framed for a triple murder. Montauk lawyer Tom Dunleavy's client list is woefully small- occasional real estate closings barely keep him in paper clips. So when he is hired to defend a local man accused in a triple murder in East Hampton, he knows that he has found the case of his lifetime. The crime turns the glittering playground for the super-rich into a blazing inferno. Dunleavy's client is a local hero, but he knows the case rests on money, deception, and forbidden desires. His client will be framed-unless he can find the key to the case. When Dunleavy is joined by his former flame, the savvy and well-connected attorney, Kate Costello, he believes he has a chance. But payback is a bitch, especially from the rich. The violent retaliations of billionaires threatened by his investigation exceed anything Dunleavy has ever seen. With the entire nation's eyes on him in a new Trial of the Century, Dunleavy orchestrates a series of revelations that lead to a stunning outcome- and the truth is wilder than anything he ever imagined.
