This book is open access under a CC BY 4.0 license. This textbook, endorsed by the European Society for Blood and Marrow Transplantation (EBMT), provides adult and paediatric nurses with a full and informative guide covering all aspects of transplant nursing, from basic principles to advanced concepts. It takes the reader on a journey through the history of transplant nursing, including essential and progressive elements to help nurses improve their knowledge and benefit the patient experience, as well as a comprehensive introduction to research and auditing methods. This new volume specifically intended for nurses, complements the ESH-EBMT reference title, a popular educational resource originally developed in 2003 for physicians to accompany an annual training course also serving as an educational tool in its own right. This title is designed to develop the knowledge of nurses in transplantation. It is the first book of its kind specifically targeted at nurses in this specialist field and acknowledges the valuable contribution that nursing makes in this area. This volume presents information that is essential for the education of nurses new to transplantation, while also offering a valuable resource for more experienced nurses who wish to update their knowledge.

This volume discusses the emergence and role of the art salon in the Arab region in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, focusing on Algeria, Tunisia, Egypt, Lebanon and Iraq. Institutional forms of exhibiting and teaching art emerged in the Middle East and North Africa in late colonial and early post-colonial contexts. The book examines how the salon had an impact on the formation of taste and on debates on art, and discusses the transfers and cultural interactions between the Middle East, North Africa and Europe. Following the institutional model of the Paris salons, art salons emerged in Algiers, Tunis and Cairo starting in the late 1880s. In Beirut, the salon tradition reached its peak only after independence in the mid-twentieth century. Baghdad never had a formal salon, but alternative spaces and exhibition formats developed in Iraq from the late 1940s onwards. As in Paris, the salons in the region often defined the criteria of artistic production and public taste. The impact of the salon also lay in its ability to convey particular values, attitudes and aspirations. At the same time, the values and attitudes promoted by the salon as well as the salon itself were often subject to debate, which led to the creation of counter-salons or alternative exhibition practices. The art salon helps us to understand changes in the art systems of these countries, including the development of art schools, exhibition spaces and artist societies, and gives insight into the power dynamics at play. It also highlights networks and circulations between the Arab region and Europe.

"Elles furent effrontées, libérées, entreprenantes, conquérantes", écrit Nanou Saint-Lèbe au sujet de ces femmes, aristocrates ou bourgeoises, parties à la conquête des Pyrénées, la barrière sauvage... À travers une série de portraits, cet ouvrage retrace l'histoire, aux XVIIIe et XIXe siècles, de la découverte des Pyrénées par des femmes de tous horizons, françaises, anglaises, hollandaises, russes... On y croise des curistes, des voyageuses, des sportives, des artistes ou des savantes. Certaines remontent les vallées en voiture, à cheval ou en chaise à porteurs ; d'autres passent la frontière lorsqu'elle n'est pas fermée pour cause d'épidémie ou de guerre ; d'autres encore se lancent à l'assaut d'un col, d'un sommet, utilisant les bras vigoureux de leurs guides. Toutes écrivent, dessinent, se révèlent mécènes éclairées, héroïnes de faits divers. Ces femmes ayant entrepris le voyage "aux" Pyrénées ont laissé de nombreux témoignages écrits. Grâce à eux, l'auteur nous raconte les débuts du tourisme thermal et montagnard. Et insiste sur la place des femmes, notamment celle des Pyrénéennes qui ont côtoyé, le temps d'une saison, ces voyageuses d'un autre monde.

The first volume of the new series "European Avant-Garde and Modernism Studies" focuses on the relation between the avant-garde, modernism and Europe. It combines interdisciplinary and intermedial research on experimental aesthetics and poetics. The essays, written by experts from more than fifteen countries, seek to bring out the complexity of the European avant-garde and modernism by relating it to Europe's intricate history, multiculturalism and multilingualism. They aim to inquire into the divergent cultural views on Europe taking shape in avant-garde and modernist practices and to chart a composite image of the "other Europe(s)" that have emerged from the (contemporary) avant-garde and experimental modernism. How did the avant-garde and modernism in (and outside) Europe give shape to local, national and pan-European forms of identity and community? To what extent does the transnational exchange and cross-fertilisation of aesthetic tendencies illustrate the well-rehearsed claim that the avant-gardes form a typically European phenomenon? Dealing with canonised as well as lesser known exponents of modernism and the avant-garde throughout Europe, this book will appeal to all those interested in European cultural, literary and art history.

Cet ouvrage propose une sélection d'une cinquantaine de dessins des écoles italienne, française et flamande du musée Condé. Les chefs-d'œuvre français sont extrêmement bien représentés : le classicisme du XVIIe siècle est à l'honneur avec des dessins de Nicolas Poussin, Claude Lorrain ou Gaspard Dughet ; Le XVIIIe siècle comprend quelques feuilles éparses de Gabriel de Saint-Aubin, J.-J. Huvé, J.-J. de Boissieu ; le début du XIXe siècle est marqué par l'orientalisme : Adrien Dauzats, Alexandre-Gabriel Decamps, Prosper Marilhat illustrent cette tendance des années 1830 - le carnet de croquis dessiné par Eugène Delacroix au Maroc en 1832 comprend, outre des scènes pittoresques, de nombreux paysages à l'aquarelle ou à la pierre noire le paysage romantique est représenté par Hébert, Caruelle d'Aligny ou encore Anastasi avec des vues de Rome ou d'Italie. Les écoles italienne et flamande sont présentes grâce à Perino del Vaga, Domenico Campagnola, Carrache et Bellotto d'une part et Bruegel de Velours, David Teniers et Paul Bril d'autre part.

Legal systems like to think of themselves as impartial and fair, dispensing the objective morality of Justice. But, from time to time, a court of law can be as political, prejudiced, and biased as any other arm of the State. The classic instance is the story of the trials of Alfred Dreyfus. In December 1894 a French military tribunal found Alfred Dreyfus guilty of high treason. Dreyfus was a Jew; the War Office was determined that at all costs the honour and good name of the Army must be upheld; and both left and right in the French Parliament used the convulsions of the case for what they believed to be their own advantage. The original verdict affected the Army, the Church, the Judiciary and the State over the following twelve years. Even now the case provokes arguments of fierce intensity. Guy Chapman's classic exposition of the long drawn-out trials has been out of print for many years and this present thorough revision incorporates the findings of recent scholarship; it is compellingly readable and unapproachably authoritative. The questions still remain - how far were the Dreyfus Trials the product of a conscious conspiracy, how far an unconscious conspiracy of silence, and how far did 'justice' prevail?

The present volume offers an overview of collecting and displaying Islamic art during the long nineteenth century. A section of the volume focuses on the figure of the Swiss collector Henri Moser Charlottenfels. Special attention is given to little-known collections in Eastern Europe and beyond. L'ouvrage fournit un panorama du collectionnisme d'art islamique au cours du long XIXe siècle, en mettant l'accent sur la figure d'Henri Moser Charlottenfels et des collections méconnues situées en Europe central, et au-delà.
